WEIGHS PROBE OF 10 CARTELS WITH GERMANS

Senate Committee Told U. S. Industry Tie-Ups Hamper Vital Production.

'TREASON' CHARGED

Chairman Raps Standard Oil; Arnold Says Conspiracy Was to Hold In War.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate committee investigating the war program today pondered the advisability of inquiring into the "more than 10" Cartel agreements I. G. Farben Industrie, powerful German dye trust, has made with American concerns.

Chairman Harry S. Truman, D., Mo., said the group probably will go into a number of the arrangements but pointed out that it would be "obviously impossible" to investigate all of them.

Their existence was disclosed by Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold who testified Thursday and again yesterday in connection with one arrangement — that between Standard Oil of New Jersey and Farben which, he charged, has frustrated creation of a synthetic rubber industry in this country.

Farben's tie-ups with American industry, he warned, are widespread and have been used by Adolf Hitler to hamper production of vital and critical materials here.

Discussing the Standard Cartel, he said the company had pledged to continue its "conspiracy" with Farben "throughout the war." He quoted a memorandum written by F. A. Howard, president of the Standard Development company, a subsidiary, which said in part:

"They (Farben representatives) delivered to me assignments of some 2,000 foreign patents and we did our best to work out complete plans for a modus vivendi which would operate through the term of the war, whether or not the U. S. came in."

It was written Oct. 12, 1939, shortly after start of the war in Europe.

Arnold said the original cartel was entered into in 1929 and was purely a business venture.

But in 1935, the German gov-

Cornerstone Isn't Cornerstone After All, Workers Find

For a few minutes today, it appeared that the cornerstone of the First Congregational church, which was destroyed by fire seven weeks ago, had been uncovered.

Rev. Peter Young, pastor, some members of the church congregation, and a photographer and reporter hurried to the scene when word got around that the cornerstone of the church was about to be removed from the wreckage and opened.

Then it turned out that the "cornerstone" was a huge stone slab, solid all the way through. It is the stone built into the front wall of the church, about 30 feet from the ground, bearing the inscription "Congregational church 1871."

A workman in the crew that is razing the church ruins made the discovery that the slab was solid when he went up to rig a block and tackle for lowering it to the ground.

After a consultation, it was decided that the actual cornerstone was the stone, much smaller in size and placed about five feet from the ground at the left of the main entrance to the church. The workmen expect to get to it in two or three days, and then it will be learned what objects, if any, the congregation which started to build the church in 1871 placed in the cornerstone.

Mansfield to Salute Men In Service At Big Army Day Celebration April 6; Parade Will Highlight Program

An opportunity for all Mansfield to turn out for a "Salute to the Boys In Service" was provided today with the announcement of plans for a complete city-wide observance of Army day on April 6—a week from Monday.

High point of the observance will be a parade in the early evening of that day, probably at 7:30 p. m. Plans were being arranged today for the most complete participation by the city in any such event for many years.

Preliminary plans were announced by Glenn L. Bierly, captain of Company "F" Ohio State Guard, and chairman of the committee making the arrangements. Working with him in planning the affair are:

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and Ralph Hughes, who are arranging for the city's civilian defense organization to turn out en masse for the parade, with air raid wardens, auxiliary police, auxiliary firemen, and other units forming separate groups in the procession;

R. M. James and Clyde L. Myers, representing the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, respectively, to arrange participation of all former servicemen in the parade;

James R. Harrington, commander of the fifth group, Civil Air Patrol, who will arrange for that organization's participation;

A. L. Allen, representing the Mansfield selective service organization and the parents of boys in the service (he is chairman of Draft Board No. 1, and his son is with a tank division in the force that has made military history with its defense of Batan peninsula);

Lewis F. Hartman, newly-elected president of the Manufacturers club, who will arrange participation of Mansfield workers engaged in war production; and

Paul M. Eliot, chairman of the county defense bond campaign committee, who will

U. S. SHARPENS BATTLE AGAINST U-BOAT MENACE

Concentrates Command Over Anti-Sub Operations In Navy Hands.

WASHINGTON — The battle against the U-boat menace off the U. S. coasts was intensified today with concentration in the navy of command over both army and navy anti-submarine operations.

Unification of command, it was said, will make possible more effective distribution of ships and planes engaged in the submarine hunt.

The worst menace is along the Atlantic coast where Axis submarines have sunk more than 100 ships. Japanese submarines made an appearance off the West Coast early in the war but they were not in such large numbers as those in the Atlantic.

But from now on, officials promised, the raiders aren't going to have such easy pickings.

Army air units are operating under the orders of naval sea frontier commanders, who are charged with protecting American shipping along the coasts against enemy attack. Previously, when there was no formal coordination between the two services, army air patrols operated independently in coastal areas already covered by the navy

Under the new arrangement it will be possible to assign army units to offshore areas patroled insufficiently or not at all by navy surface and air craft.

The unified command covers both coasts, embracing three sea frontier commands

PASSES CAPE

Major British Naval Force Reported on Way to East.

ROME — (By official Italian wireless)—(INS)—A major British naval force yesterday passed the cape of Good Hope, the southernmost tip of Africa, en route to the Indian ocean, the Italian radio declared today.

The powerful force was said to have included two large battleships, two aircraft carriers, several cruisers and a number of smaller units.

With the occupation of the Andaman and Nicobar islands in recent days, Japanese warships have been appearing with increasing frequency in the Indian ocean. Other reports said that Japanese warships had been sighted near Rangoon.

Japanese submarines have been operating in the Indian ocean for some weeks.

Authorities Silent On California Laboratory Blast.

PASADENA, Calif.—(INS)—Silence was maintained today regarding the nature of an explosion in the $500,000 Kellogg radiation laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, where one man was fatally burned and six other persons were injured.

A spokesman said merely that the blast appeared "to have been caused by an industrial accident in the powder vault."

'ENVOYS' SENT INTO GERMANY

France Gets First Civilian Representation Since War.

VICHY, Unoccupied France—(AP)—The French government announced today establishment of the first civilian representation in Germany since diplomatic relations were broken at the outbreak of war in 1939.

Eight civilian employes will be sent to Germany to open a "department of French labor in Germany" to deal with problems connected with the employment of French workmen in German factories.

(Official German sources have set at approximately 100,000 the number of French workmen engaged under voluntary contracts to replace German technicians called for army duty.)

CHECK ON NEW PROWLER CASE

Police Hunt Intruder Seen In Mansfield Home; Second Case In Week.

For the second time in three days, Mansfield police early today received a report of a prowler in a Mansfield home, this time from a Crouse street housewife.

The woman told police that a "dark complexioned man wearing a railroad worker's cap" had entered her home shortly before midnight.

She said that she noticed the kitchen window open around 11 p. m. and closed it. Going through the kitchen on two other occasions, she found the window open again and closed it.

The third time she closed the window, according to police, the woman saw a "man disappearing down the back stairs." Nothing was stolen from the home.

Last Tuesday night, a 21-year-old Hedges street girl told police she suddenly awakened at 2:25 a. m. and saw a man crouched beside her bed. The intruder described by the girl as "a tall man," ran from the house when the girl screamed and fled in a grey sedan.

HOUSE REDUCES SUPPLY MEASURE

Lops $475,000 From Funds for Interior Department.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — If the house has its way, the department of interior is going to get along during the 1943 fiscal year without an editorial, photographic or radio section in the secretary's office.

The house passed and sent to the senate late yesterday a $162,157,965 interior department supply bill for the next fiscal year after lopping off $476,880 from its appropriations committee's recommendations.

Included in the $476,880 was $100,080 scheduled to go to 40 employes in the editorial, photographic and radio sections of the informational division.

Draft Plans for City-Wide Drive for Medical Supplies

Housewives get your old sheets and pillow cases ready—

Men hunt up that old raincoat you said you would never wear any more—and—

Everybody prepare to contribute to the city-wide drive for supplies to equip Mansfield's first aid and casualty stations for use in the event of an emergency.

The medical division of Mansfield's Civilian Defense Council is sponsoring the city-wide drive the week of April 13 and plans for the campaign were completed by the medical division Friday afternoon at Mansfield General hospital.

Bernard C. Hardy, first aid director of the Red Cross and chairman of the medical ways and means committee in charge of the drive, outlined plans for the campaign which will use John Simpson Junior High school as a temporary receiving station.

The first great need, Hardy said, is for freshly laundered sheets, pillow cases, towels and wash cloths, also clean cotton blankets. He pointed out that only freshly laundered supplies will be accepted as the organization has no funds for laundry service.

Next in line is the need for the army type of folding cots, cotton batting, rubber sheeting, (here's where the raincoats come in handy), splints and a large variety of other first aid accessories.

The list of other supplies range from safety razors and razor blades to straight pins and safety pins, with paper cups, nail brushes,

COLD TO STAY

Weatherman Says It'll Be Snowing Again Sunday.

It won't be much like spring tonight with freezing weather and snow flurries due to stay at least until Sunday, the weatherman predicted today.

Snow and sleet blew into the city area last night as the mercury dropped from 66 degrees yesterday afternoon to a low of 29 during the night. It had climbed to 35 at noon.

The forecast for this afternoon and tonight was for "moderately cold weather with snow flurries."

Total percipitation last night, including rain, sleet, and snow, measured only .02 of an inch, not enough to create a traffic hazard or hide the early flowers that are showing above the ground.

FBI DISCOVERS SHORT WAVE SET IN NAZI 'HOME'

Receiving Sets, Subversive Literature Also Found In New Jersey Raid.

HOBOKEN, N. J.—A short wave transmitter, and a quantity of subversive literature was found today in the German Seamen's Home in Hoboken by 54 G-men who staged an early morning raid, holding 62 to 65 persons for questioning.

The transmitter was found concealed in the room of one of the alleged seamen in an intensive search of the building which included emptying dresser drawers, tapping walls and even ripping apart a few matresses.

The federal agents who were still conducting their search and their questioning of the Home's occupants several hours after the raid also found short wave receivers in the building.

The agents questioning, fingerprinting and photographing the Home's occupants indicated that all would be arrested, some on charges of failing to register as aliens, others on more serious charges.

Occupants of the Home still were in bed when the G-men aided by Hoboken police and accompanied by army and navy intelligence officers and Assistant U. S Attorney Thorne Lord staged their dramatic entrance.

Police stood guard around the building while the G-men hurried through the corridors tumbling out the occupants and ordering them to report immediately in the assembly hall on the first floor.

Then while one group of agents began questioning the occupants, another started systematic exploration of the sleeping quarters

ENTERING FOLD

French Reported Ready For Closer Nazi Collaboration.

SOMEWHERE ON THE GERMAN FRONTIER —(INS)— Closer collaboration between France and Germany was anticipated today in the wake of reports from Vichy that Pierre Laval probably would re-enter Marshal Henri Philippe Petain's cabinet shortly.

Petain and Laval conferred Thursday in Vichy to discuss details of the former vice premier's return to a government post and also a number of new concessions to Germany which may materialize soon, reports said.

It was rumored that a Dr. Martin, former member of the Cagoulards and one of the alleged plotters of the attempted assassination of Laval last December, had been arrested Thursday. Laval had advocated a closer collaboration with Germany than the Petain government has effected.

LORDS GOING?

London Reports Plan To Reorganize Upper House.

LONDON—(INS)—A totally unprecedented plan to eliminate the house of lords as such and rebuild it along lines of a "national brain trust," with industrial, labor, scientific, literary and religious leaders holding seats, may be undertaken shortly, the Daily Herald reported today.

Sir John Anderson, lord president of the council, has been named head of a committee considering such a plan.

Paratroops Aid Attack Against French Coast

Fighting Reported Still Going on at St. Nazaire; Raiders Attempt to Explode Dynamite-Filled Ship In Port; 'Failure,' Say Nazis.

(By United Press)

VICHY—British forces including Canadian parachute troops struck at the port installations at the German-held submarine base of St. Nazaire today and one report said the paratroops still were fighting this afternoon in buildings at the mouth of the Loire river.

According to advices received here, the British made a land, sea and air attack on the St. Nazaire base, which the Germans reportedly have used for U-boat and long-range air attacks. The submarine attacks have extended as far as the American coast.

Unofficial reports indicated that the raid was at least partly successful and that fighting still was going on this afternoon despite the fact that the stranded British forces were greatly outnumbered and presumably doomed because they could not be reinforced.

The raid appeared to be the most daring and the most ambitious of five such invasion thrusts against the Norwegian and French coasts since the commandos were organized.

The attack at St. Nazaire was directed against what the British knew to be a heavily fortified and closely-guarded area, but the operation indicated the British now were determined to strike a series of offensive blows designed to keep the Germans jittery and force them to strengthen their western garrisons.

Attempt To Block Area To U-Boats

(By United Press)

LONDON — Britain struck at the German-held west coast of France early today, apparently in a spectacular attempt to block a big enemy submarine base by exploding a dynamite-filled former American destroyer against harbor installations.

The German high command reported that the attack failed with heavy losses to the British, including the dynamite-laden destroyer and 13 small boats. A British communique said that attack was "small" and that further information would be withheld until all forces had returned to base.

The attack was made on St. Nazaire and it was believed that British commandos were landed on the French coast. The raid recalled the successful British operation in 1918 when cement-filled ships were sunk in the Bruges canal to block the German U-boat base at Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast.

The object of last night's raid apparently was to knock out a base from which German U-boats and long-range planes have been attacking Allied shipping in the

REPULSED: Foe Beaten Off at Corregidor, Attacked on Batan

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's American and Filipino troops went into action against the Japanese on Batan and Mindanao islands today as the stubborn gun crews on Corregidor island beat off an "almost continuous" air bombardment for the fourth successive day.

Continuing bombing raids which began at dawn yesterday, the Japanese subjected Corregidor to virtual non-stop onslaughts but crack anti-aircraft gunners drove the enemy planes wide of their target.

"The enemy attempted night raids, but the Japanese planes were picked up by our searchlights and hastily fled after dropping their bombs in the bay," the war department said in a communique.

This was the second night raid since the Japanese began their all-out aerial attack against Corregidor last Tuesday. One Japanese heavy bomber was reported shot down in the latest attempt.

On Batan, one of Gen. Wainwright's patrols staged a successful night raid while the artillery on the peninsula pounded truck concentrations and hostile batteries, causing numerous enemy casualties.

At the same time, artillery batteries on Corregidor and the three companion forts across Manila bay directed heavy fire at Japanese gun emplacements on the Cavite shore.

The shelling of Jap truck concentrations on Batan indicated that the Americans were attempting to break up enemy movements which the war department said yesterday forecast a renewed offense.

On Mindanao island, Wainwright's patrols penetrated enemy lines to within a mile of the city of Zamboanga and successfully

BOMBED: Jap Ship Fired by Allies; Moresby Raid Repeated

(By United Press)

GENERAL M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia —Japanese aerial raiders struck again at Port Moresby today after United States and Australian bombs hit a 7,000-ton Japanese vessel at Koepang, capital of Dutch Timor.

The Allied planes, believed to have included flying fortresses, left the Japanese ship blazing in the harbor at Koepang, enemy invasion base, Prime Minister John Curtin revealed in a communique.

A gunner on one of them reported having seen an explosion in the direction of the ship as the flames lighted the harbor. Curtin said a "near miss" probably destroyed one of several enemy flying boats in the harbor.

All planes returned, despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. No Japanese planes attempted to intercept them.

Yesterday's raid followed an attack Thursday in which Allied planes concentrated on the Koepang airdrome and other installations.

Curtin's communique reporting today's Japanese attack on Port Moresby said details had not been received.

A Royal Australian Air Force communique announced that two Japanese planes had been shot down in a dog fight over Port Moresby, New Guinea, yesterday, for the loss of one Allied plane.

(The Australian radio, heard by CBS at New York, reported that Japanese planes attacked Port Moresby again today.)

An official spokesman announced at headquarters here that President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines, who had followed Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a break-through of the Japanese sea and air blockade, was now on the way to headquarters with his war

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—Arthur Weik, of WPB, told a convention of ice-men that many small businesses must close up shop and "Root, hog, or die" before they lose all their money through the priorities system.

Gen. Johnson.

The advice was probably good if present policies are to continue, but does it lie in the mouth of a WPB man to be saying so?

Part of the duty of that organization is to see to it that civilian morale and supply is maintained as long as possible. If it has done one thing to help in that direction, the record does not show it.

Wherever it sees a shortage looming its first and only thought is to take it out on small business and the civilian population.

Weik points out that this will so restrict the volume of sales of small retailers and manufacturers, that their intake will not carry their overhead and that they ought to liquidate and offer their services to the government which, by the way, and to their bitter disappointment, may not want them no matter what has been their experience.

Whoa! I must keep personalities out of the column.

Take a recent case in point. It has been announced that men must worry along with one razor blade a week for safety razors. This may save 300,000 pounds of steel of varying grades.

At about the same time we learn that plans are being studied for reclaiming the scrap-steel lying around in weeds of farmers' fence corners, on abandoned railways and the like. It is estimated by somebody that this will salvage 3,000,000 tons of steel.

A better estimate would be 30,000,000 tons if the job were properly done. And isn't it pretty late in the day to be doing this? The Japs are sinking our ships and killing our men with steel they have been salvaging from our scrap piles for several years.

But, for us it is too much trouble. It is easier to "ration razor blades to get 300,000 pounds, which is quite spectacular but very sterile of results.

Three hundred thousand pounds (not) tons) of steel is not a drop in the bucket of our need, but it will be a great and needless daily annoyance to a good many million men, and one more stoppage in the flow of business through small outlets.

When you begin dealing in these relatively small figures, I don't know how much justice and equal division of burden is involved, but everybody knows that no two types of razor blade have the same quantity of steel. Some have many times more than others.

It is apparent that not a great deal of thought has been given this great American whiskers enigma.

Beards have had their ups and downs through the ages, sometimes being regarded as a mark of manhood and sometimes the reverse. Wars have played their part in the result

Alexander the Great plucked his out by the roots to preserve the appearance of eternal youth, and made even his Asian cohorts (to whom beards were sacred) get rid of theirs to deprive their enemies of a "handle" to hold their heads while they carved out their innards.

Beards came back to American fashion during our war among the states because it was just too much trouble to shave in the field.

There was some sense to both of those examples which this newest fantasy lacks. The latter is just another of those bright ideas of bright young men who are running our war effort with too much bureaucratic high-handedness and too little thought for the human factors involved.

Order Morale Sabotage Suspects Seized

SPY CONFESSES PLAN TO WORK IN BRAZIL, U. S.

Rio Officials Declares Japs Could Muster Army of 30,000 In Sao Paulo.

(By International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Confession of a Nazi spy that he was ordered "to organize Brazil, then proceed to the United States and do likewise," and the declaration of a Brazilian military judge that Japan could muster an army of 30,000 men in Sao Paulo were the latest developments today in Brazil's campaign to crush Axis espionage and sabotage.

The Nazi agent, sent to South America to direct espionage efforts, was Sweden-born Nils Christensen, a naturalized German citizen, who arrived in Brazil aboard the German steamer Hermes last April, bearing false papers identifying him as a Swedish naval officer.

Immediately on his arrival, Christensen went to Santos, where he erected the first Nazi clandestine radio station with the help of the German firm, Teodore Willie, and German Consul Otto Webele, police said.

There he sent the German admiralty information on ship movements in the South Atlantic, authorities disclosed. When he found police becoming suspicious, he transferred his station to Rio de Janeiro, continuing to transmit news on ships which he received from Santos by a small Morse set.

Credit for the exposing of Christensen was given by police to Juvenal Sayon, Brazilian radio expert. Becoming suspicious last December, when he was requested to manufacture a certain radio part by a mysterious stranger who spoke perfect English and gave the name of Mendes, Sayon advised police. The authorities then launched an investigation which resulted in the downfall of Christensen and his gang.

Among Christensen's belongings, police found a German naval code and microscopic pictures with secret instructions.

The declaration that Japan could muster an army of 30,000 in Sao Paulo and mobilize 500 trucks to transport it was made by Gen. Manoel Rabello, a supreme military court judge.

The 500 trucks, he said, are "more than the Brazilian army has at its disposal."

Japanese fishing boats have landed men and munitions in Brazil and many of the Japanese residents in the country have had army training, some of them being former officers of Nippon's army, General Rabello said.

Mansfielders may sometimes get a little discouraged with the public reaction to organizing of civilian defenses in the city, but they can take heart from this Ellis H. Although the town swarms with units of the armed forces, Sprunger says the newspapers are giving little or no play to civilian defense and he's mighty proud of the way things were going here when he left the city.

AUTHORITIES STRIKE WHITE SHIRT GROUP

Charge Organizer Distributed Propaganda to Cause Mutiny In Army.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The government ordered two arrests to make it bluntly plain today that it would tolerate no suspected sabotage of the morale or loyalty of men in the armed forces.

Prosecution proceedings were instituted in Chattanooga, Tenn., against George W. Christians, organizer of the "Crusader White Shirts," on charges of distributing propaganda which advocated insubordination, disloyalty and mutiny in the army to bring about a "reign of terror."

Almost simultaneous action was taken against Rudolph Fahl, of Denver, charged with attempting to undermine the morale of the military forces.

Attorney General Biddle announced that he had directed the two arrests and cited quotations from some of the alleged propaganda. If the men, both native Americans, should be convicted, they face a maximum penalty of ten years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Christians, Biddle said, addressed some of his printed propaganda to officers at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and Camp Forrest, Tenn., whereas Fahl appealed to officers of the air corps gunnery school at Lowry Field, Colo.

In one of the Christians' documents cited by the war department of justice, a list of questions on the war were propounded, with the notation that they were "designed to finish the demoralization of the existing order and create a reign of terror. . . ."

"When the mad mob gets in motion make sure that they dig all of the blood-sucking gangsters out from under their pile of rock and steel. Line them up against a wall and shoot them. BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Manhattan Nights.

BROADWAY is the place where the path to plaudits is paved with pathos, because true luck never runs smooth. Just as the sages were wont to say, in their more optimistic moments, it's always darkest before the dawn: that's why today's sob story often winds up as tomorrow's success saga, and the lucky heroes and heroines of the Street forget the hard knocks that preceded Opportunity's.

Kilgallen

Far from Broadway in the land of Puerto Rico not many years ago, a little Latin girl punched a time clock and toiled as stenographer in the South American branch of a famous recording company. She was teasingly close to the kind of glamor she yearned for, but might have been a million miles away for all the good it did her. She wanted to be a singer. She had the talent. She had the looks. But her small weekly pay check was what her family depended upon, so she couldn't risk throwing over her drab security for the uncertainty of a new career.

All around her there was the enchantment of music and rhythm and song, but all she could contribute was the monotonous tap-tap-tap of typewriter keys pounding out business letters.

It must have been that her little frustrated dreams kept her from being as wide awake as an alert secretary is supposed to be, because one dismal day she was informed that her services were no longer required.

She tried to get another job, and failed So the little Latin girl consoled herself by pretending the misfortune was a blessing in disguise. She carefully prepared a repertoire of songs, and she tried to sing the way Gladys Swarthout sang on recordings the little Latin girl had heard by slipping into the soundproof booths of the music company in her spare moments

Quite a long while afterwards, she was allowed to sing on the "amateur" hour of a Puerto Rican radio station And the very next day, the station telephoned her A New York cafe proprietor, Benito Collada of El Chico, had been listening to the program via short wave. He had cabled the little unknown in care of the station, promising her a job in America, and the money for transportation.

That was how Rosita Rios, of the brown velvet eyes and the clear satin voice, got her start. Today she's one of the foremost Latin stars in Manhattan nightlife.

A few nights ago Rosita Rios sang for the soldiers at the Stage Door Canteen, and when she had finished a beautiful young woman came up to her and said: "I love the way you sing. I think your style is divine."

The praise came from Gladys Swarthout.

Sometimes, when everything goes wrong, there's nothing to do except to pack up and get away from it all. That's what happened a couple of seasons ago to a shapely blond screen starlet whose career just couldn't get past the stage of featured roles in B pictures And whose marriage had just ended in the divorce courts

She was blue and heartily discouraged, and that was why she accepted the second lead in a Broadway musical. She didn't expect it to prove a turning point in her career, or even much of a professional boost—but she knew it would take her 3,000 miles away from Hollywood and her romantic woes and her studio disappointments.

So the shapely blond starlet came to Broadway, and one morning she woke up to find herself the Dream Girl of cafe society, the object of many critical bouquets

Of course, once Broadway had discovered she had beautiful legs and could dance, Hollywood discovered she was a great dramatic actress She was wooed back to the coast—for important A pictures this time—and now she's happy in her career, happily in love with George Raft.

The show that cured her blues was "DuBarry Was a Lady." The girl whose blues were cured was Betty Grable.

LANGER VOWS FDR SUPPORT

Says He Will Support War Program After Senate Votes Him Seat.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Sen. William Langer, R., N. D., victorious over a movement to oust him from the senate, today, promised President Roosevelt his full support of the war program and warned that he will "challenge" any delay to this nation's final victory.

Langer took unquestioned possession of his senate seat after he was cleared of corruption and moral turpitude charges yesterday by a 52 to 30 senate vote.

His victory came in the face of an elections committee finding that he was unfit to accept senatorial duties.

The elections committee, by an 11 to 3 vote, had recommended that Langer be unseated on the basis of charges that he accepted a $25,000 bribe to obtain a state reduction in the Great Northern railway's taxes; that he accrued huge profits through assisting private bond brokers in state and county bond transactions while he was governor of North Dakota, and that he attempted to tamper with a federal judge and jury.

Langer casually tallied the vote as the reading clerk polled the senate. He refused to exercise his perogative of voting on his own case, declining to answer to his name when read by the clerk. Members of his family watched intently from the gallery.

Ohio's Republican senators split their vote on the resolution to unseat Langer, Sen. Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, favored Langer by voting against the resolution, while Sen. Harold H. Burton, Cleveland, voted for the ouster.

GETS CHECK FOR LEGAL WORK AND IT'S MILLION TOO MUCH

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—When someone hands you $1,000,000, hand it right back, quickly and firmly.

That is what Attorney Arthur H. Schwab, of Chicago, did, and today he feels good. He has a clear conscience, and remains honest.

Schwab gasped when he opened an envelope and found a check for $1,000,020. Quickly he searched his memory for some clue to the wealthy client, or benefactor. No, he hadn't done that much work for anyone, and so far as he could tell no relative had left him that much money.

When he recovered from the shock long enough to read the signature. It read: Frank H. Munger. The check was drawn on a Charleston, W. Va., bank.

The story unfolded eventually and it developed that Munger, dealer in portraits and picture frames, had ordered a $20 cashier's check drawn at Charleston, payable to Schwab, in Chicago, for legal work in a federal trades commission case.

A bank employe had erred in placing a flock of 00's and a 1 in front of the 20.

Schwab feels even better about writing the bank, asking them for a corrected check (one million less), and requesting that the employe responsible for the mistake not be criticized too severely.

The employe is happy too, one million dollars worth.

OK'S TRANSFER

Tax Body Authorizes Use of $15,000 For Garage.

Transfer of $15,000 from the Madison township general fund to the road and bridge fund to finance the construction of a township garage had been authorized today by the state tax commission.

Plans calls for construction of the new building on the north side of the Ashland road beyond the armory. It will house township road equipment and trucks which are stored now in the Richland county garage.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz filed a petition today in common pleas court for final authority for the transfer. Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston must approve the transfer following the tax commission's action.

The prosecutor said the township's general fund has been built up recently by inheritance tax allocations, giving the trustees sufficient funds for the garage.

BLOWN TO BITS BY EXPLOSION

Three Men Killed as Blast Levels Bomb-Making Plant.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Three men were blown to pieces today when powerful explosives used in making thermite bombs ignited and demolished a one-story brick building of a converted Staten Island fireworks plant.

The tremendous blast, which occurred in the explosive mixing room of the Unexcelled Manufacturing company, in Graniteville, hurled three other workers through the roof, injuring them critically. Flames roared through the building but the quick work of firemen prevented them from spreading to other plant buildings.

The dead were so badly shattered they could not be identified immediately.

Science Fashions Shells That Fly Under Own Power

NEW YORK—(AP)—Science has fashioned its first cannon of the future, to shoot shells which fly by their own power with jet propulsion.

This weapon is small, a light metal tube three inches in diameter, four feet long. The shells are six inches long, a little more than two inches thick.

It is entirely experimental, but is a start on a principle recognized as sound by aviation engineers. The gun was designed by Edward F. Chandler, New York engineer, and is described in the journal of the American Rocket Society.

The purpose is to experiment with the jets, of burning powder, gasoline, liquid oxygen and other power sources, to drive the shell. Jets which drive an 18-foot long projectile seven miles have been developed by Dr. Robert Goddard in New Mexico.

The new experiment seeks to adapt available information to explosive shells. Power and distance already are available. But problems of accuracy in flight, cheapness of construction, and types of fuel have yet to be solved.

Special Palm Sunday Services Planned for Mansfield Churches

Confirmation Services, Receptions for New Members Arranged; Union Services Series Opens Tuesday.

Mansfield churches tomorrow will mark the beginning of Holy Week with impressive Palm Sunday ceremonies in commemoration of the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem before the crucifixion.

The colorful Palm Sunday services will be the first of a series of daily ceremonies which will culminate next Sunday in the Easter worship, one of the two greatest days on the religious calendar.

Protestant churches will have confirmation services for children and will accept new members into the congregations tomorrow. Easter season music and programs will be a part of the Palm Sunday observance in all the churches.

The solemn mass of Palm Sunday will be read at 11 a. m. tomorrow at St. Peter's Catholic church. The ceremonies will include the blessing of the palms, distribution of palm branches to the people, the procession of palms and solemn high mass in which the Passion will be sung.

The hours of mass at St. Peter's church will be unchanged. Masses will be at 5, 6:30, 8, 9:30, and 11 a. m.

Featuring the Holy Week observance in the city's Protestant churches will be union services conducted Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 12:05 to 12:55 p. m. by Dr. W. S. Abernethy, former pastor of Calvary Baptist church in Washington, D. C. The services will be in the First Lutheran church.

Noon services on Good Friday will be held in the First Lutheran church and First Presbyterian church. Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor of Central Methodist church, will speak during the First Lutheran services, while Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will conduct the services in the First Presbyterian church.

Traditional Palm Sunday ceremonies mark the ending of Lent. In the Catholic church, the branches of the palm tree are blessed and taken home by worshipers who keep them during the year. Ashes used in Ash Wednesday are obtained by burning the palm branches of the preceding year.

'Faithful Church Member,' Subject

Rev. Charles F. Sheriff will preach Sunday morning at the Palm Sunday service on the subject "A Faithful Church Member."

Special music includes organ prelude "Hosanna" by Wachs given by Miss Anna Klippel; the choir anthem, "Ride On, Ride On" by Scott; offertory solo, "The Palms," by William Gross and the organ postlude, "Triumphal March" by Lemmons. The processional hymn is "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name."

Concert Highlights Week's Services

The Easter season at the Grace Gospel church will be observed with a sacred music concert April 4, and with a two-week series of services, March 29 to April 12. The public is invited.

The sacred concert will include a mixed chorus of 31 voices, a sinfonetta of 22 musicians, a ladies' sextette, a male octette, and instrumental and vocal selections. This concert group is making a 3,000-mile Easter tour of five states and will appear in the larger cities. There are two Mansfielders in this group which comes from Nyack, N. Y.

The series of services will be conducted with the veteran evangelist, Rev. S. M. Gerow as the guest speaker. Mr. Gerow has had a long and interesting career, and has covered the length and breadth of the nation many times. Services will be at 7:30 in the evenings, Saturdays excluded, and on Sunday morning at 10:30.

Plan Reception For New Members

At the Palm Sunday morning worship service, the Mayflower Congregational church will hold a reception for new members and will observe the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Thirty new members will be observed into the fellowship of the church, 21 upon confession of faith, and nine by letter. The organist, Mrs. Giles Hamilton has chosen for her selections; "The Palms" by Faure as prelude, "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn for offertory and Guilmant's "Gregorian March" as postlude. The senior choir will sing "Hosanna, Hosanna" by Rogers. Rev. Elwyn Owen will use as his theme in the Communion Meditation, "The Windows of the Mind."

Services Listed For St. Mark's

Speaking at Palm Sunday services, Rev. C. A. Portz, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church will use as his subject "Jesus in Conflict with Popularity." Baptismal services for children will also be held.

Holy Week services will be conducted by Rev. Portz on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:45 p. m. Sermon subjects for the week are "The Magnetism of the Cross" on Wednesday, "The Romance of Cross Bearing" on Thursday and "The Sacrifice of the Cross" on Good Friday. Holy Communion will be celebrated at the Thursday evening service.

Evangelist To Open Lexington Services

E. W. Barbee, pastor of the Church of Christ of McComb, O., is the evangelist speaking throughout the services of the Church of Christ at Lexington beginning Sunday at 8 p. m.

He will be assisted by Mrs. Barbee who will conduct special meetings for the children at the church immediately after school.

The singing will be in charge of M. M. [illegible], pastor of the Bellville and [illegible]a Churches of Christ.

Lesson-Sermon To Be On 'Reality'

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good" (Luke 6:45).

Included in the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon are the following correlative passages from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ:" (Ephesians 4: 13).

Pastor Preaches On 'Homage To Christ'

Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor of the South Main Street Evangelical church, will preach on "Homage to Christ" at special Palm Sunday services tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. His theme for the evening service at 7:30 p. m., is "Following, Thronging, and Touching Christ."

Holy Week services will be held at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Holy Communion will be observed at the Good Friday service.

Services At First Presbyterian Church

Rev. D. N. Roller will use "The Great Demonstration" as his sermon topic at Palm Sunday services in the First Presbyterian church at 10:45 a. m., tomorrow. Baptismal services and reception of new members will also be held.

Both junior and seniors choirs will sing the anthem "Hosanna" by Bitgood. The offertory hymn is entitled "An Evening Prayer" by Humperdinck. Mabel Zehner, church organist, will play 'Chorale in A Minor" by Franck, and "Hosanna" by Wachs.

School Principal To Give Talk

Opening a series of Holy Week services, Harry J. Dotson, principal of John Simpson Junior high school, will address the congregation of the Central Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Brief services will be held every evening except Monday concluding with Good Friday. Communion will be observed Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. and continue during the evening service until all who desire have communed.

SPUR OUTPUT

Workers on Job 96 Hours Plane Plant Manager Says.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— J. A. Williams, general manager of the Curtiss-Wright Airplane corporation, Columbus plant, revealed today that some employes are working "as much as 96 or 100 hours" to maintain "a continued steady production."

He said that working such hours was "not a steady proposition" and that no one worker would be asked to work hours in excess of the regular 40-hour maximum week in and week out.

Church Speaker

Rev. Gaylord D. Wilkin, pastor of the Church of God in Wharton, O., will be the principal speaker at special Palm Sunday services at White Hall Church of God on the Noble road, four miles south of Shenandoah and one mile west of route 13 on Sunday evening. He also will speak at Easter Sunday evening services.

Present Concert of Sacred Music

A concert of sacred music will be presented Saturday, April 4, at 8 p. m. at the Grace Gospel church, 95 East Third street, by the Missionary Training Institute choir of Nyack, N. Y., under the sponsorship of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. In the top picture are shown the 39 members of the choir which will cover 3,000 miles in their annual spring tour through five states. Shown below is Professor Lee Olson, head of the Institute's music department, who directs the choir. The group will present a program which will include the mixed chorus, sinfonetta, male octette, ladies sextette, instrumentalists and soloists.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIEL OHIO. SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—or, come to think of it, is it really necessary to go anywhere?

It's probably never occurred to Harry Bridges that he might be of some good in his native Australia just now.

General MacArthur set the pace when he said: ". . . In any event I shall do my best. I shall keep the soldier's faith." If each will do that, the war will be more quickly ended in victory.

Budget Unused Tire Mileage

YOU ENJOY motoring. You want to make your present car and tires serve as long as possible . . . but are you adapting your driving toward that achievement?

Some motorists are not. They are following a happy-go-lucky course without stopping to think of the inconvenience—if not actual hardship—that would ensue if they were deprived of the use of their car, either through accident, lack of tires or mechanical break-down.

The story is told of three Ohioans, touring the west, who found themselves marooned in Oklahoma because two tires wore out beyond repair and they could find no others to replace them.

What must be considered now, in contemplating a motor trip, is not only the estimated unused mileage in present tires but the extent to which they should be budgeted for use during the next two, three or possibly five years, or more—and also the possibility of accident at some distant point, hundreds, maybe several thousand miles away from home.

Sound judgment dictates immediate, and regular inspection of tires, for possible small defects, and avoidance of long drives into parts of the country that can be reached by some means of public transportation.

There is an increasing tendency in Mansfield to walk, or use bus transportation to and from work, in order to save tires, and many vacation plans extend no further than to some Ohio beauty spot that can be reached on the mileage conserved by cutting down routine driving.

Less speed and less non-essential driving will do much to extend the time that you will be able to enjoy use of your car for necessary purposes or for short pleasure trips.

Knights of Columbus Anniversary

ANOTHER of the meritorious organizations that was brought into being by the inspired thought of one man is the Knights of Columbus, which is now observing the sixtieth anniversary of its founding.

It was in New Haven, Conn., early in 1882, that the Rev. Michael J. McGivern called together a small group of Catholic laymen and presented the idea of forming a beneficial and fraternal organization designed to assist Catholic men to advance themselves, their families, communities and church.

From this small beginning the Knights of Columbus has spread to a membership of more than 415,000, with 2,500 active councils in the United States and eight other countries, with a notable record of achievements in behalf of religious, patriotic, educational, family protection and fraternal projects.

Mansfield council, No. 687, Knights of Columbus, was organized in 1902, and its fortieth anniversary coincides with the sixtieth of the parent council.

The local council, with a membership of 175, will join tomorrow in nation-wide observance of the anniversary occasion, with a breakfast meeting at the council home, 157 West Fourth street, following the 8 a. m. mass at St. Peter's church.

The Mansfield record of the Knights of Columbus, in its varied activities and in its co-operation in worthy community projects, is one of which the organization may well feel proud and the further spread of its influence for good will be a natural consequence of continued adherence to its fine principles.

Out-moded Transportation May Return

GASOLINE and tire shortage must mean a decline in trucking. Railroads presumably will benefit from this loss of their chief competitor. Perhaps waterways will also come into favor again.

Before the coming of railroads, canals were thought to be the answer to the transportation problem. The Erie canal, though the most famous, was far from the only example.

Ohio had two canals, some 250 miles long, stretching across the state from Lake Erie to the Ohio river. The Welland and Illinois drainage canals still function. Congress has spent considerable money on improving internal waterways, without much effect as far as the use of them is concerned.

In Europe it is different. Russia, a country of immense distances and many rivers which often come very near to each other, has linked them up with canals and to a large extent made up for her shortage in railroads. And as highly developed a country as Germany finds canals an important aid for both commerce and the army.

Where People Meet To Argue

COLUMNIST ERNIE PYLE tells of Pershing Square, in Los Angeles, as one of the funniest places in America. People come there just to argue. They seem to do it not to settle great truths or criticize national policies or anything like that, but just for the joy of argument, and nobody seems to know what he is talking about.

They used to have a place like that in Cleveland, when Tom Johnson was mayor. For many years it was the most argumentative piece of ground on this continent. But now that's greatly changed. People there don't argue at all. They're too busy rushing to and from work. The example is recommended to Los Angeles.

The Akron Beacon Journal's optimist says: "The future looks brighter now. When you've hit bottom there's no place to go but up"—but how are we to be sure that the bottom isn't even lower?

It sometimes seems difficult to determine whether it's considered more important in Washington to promote the New Deal or win the war.

Confidence-destroying headline in Southern paper: "Farm Boy Wins Egg-Laying Contest."

When the remark starts, "They say," stop it right there by demanding to know, "Who says?"

Nazi Ruthlessness Angers Chile

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Of the two worst headaches which Washington has had with respect to powerful groups of pro-Axis sympathizers in stategic spots, one is pretty nearly cleared up. That is in the three larger countries in South America, Argentina, Brazil and Chile. The headache about so many Japanese in Hawaii remains, though naturally such steps as are possible have been taken to deal with it.

This is not to say that the situation in the Argentine Republic is ideal, but it is much better than any one had the right to expect up to a few weeks ago. It has been growing more favorable since the Pan-American conference which the Germans were so confident had been a failure.

Chile was second only to Argentina as a danger spot, in the fears of administration officials, while the huge German population in Sau Paulo and Rio, in Brazil, had also been a cause of worry.

But the sinking of a Chilian ship, with some loss of life, by a German or Jap submarine, produced an extraordinary reaction in that country, while in Rio it was necessary for the police to protect storekeepers with German names after Brazilian ships had been sunk.

NAZI ruthlessness apparently did not pay in this particular instance. For obviously the sinking of the few ships of these two countries did not do half the harm to the United Nations which the necessity of guarding against fifth colum activities in Brazil and Chile would have done.

For instance, with tension as taut as it was after the Pan-American conference it might well have been that real friction between the United States and Chile might have developed over any attempt by the United States to guard against activities by Germans in Chile. It might easily have put Uncle Sam on the spot as a meddler, and we would have had the old propaganda against "Dollar Diplomacy" and the "Colossus of the North" all over again.

Brazil was in a little different position. She had been our best friend south of the Rio Grande, with the possible exception of Cuba. She had proved it every time any sore spot in Pan-American relations developed. The trouble there was the huge German and Italian population of the two big cities of Brazil and throughout the southeastern corner of that country.

BOTH the Germans and the Italians had done their best to keep those Brazilian residents of German and Italian blood loyal to the old countries, and enthusiastic about Hitler and Mussolini. The "cruise" of the great Italian liner Rex to Rio in 1938 was a part of this plan. While the American tourists who were paying the freight were sightseeing, the Italian officers and agents aboard the big ship were entertaining their blood relations with pep talks about the new Roman empire, made after plentiful serving of good Italian food and wine.

But, enthusiastic as the Brazilian-Italians seemed about Mussolini at the time, they have not appeared to be a real help to Mussolini's partner, partly because the Germans in Brazil had almost as much contempt for Italy as the Nazis in Europe have had.

The Italians in Brazil, like so many of their blood relations in the United States, have not been at all happy about Mussolini's tieup with Hitler. Indeed some of them suspect that their relatives still living in Italy take little joy out of a Nazi victory, and are actually nothing like as strong for their Nazi masters as are the little men of Vichy.

Man About Manhattan

Need Brings Speed

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—A man I know called in a couple of chemists and said: "Listen. The government's got two million yards of cotton duck cloth. This material is going to be made into tents. It's got to be treated with something that'll make it flame proof as well as water proof. What do you say?"

The chemists said, "Okay, this is Friday, we'll be back on Monday and see what we can show you."

I HAPPENED to be there when the chemists came back. They had a piece of the ducking with them, with the treatment on it. One of the specifications of this order is that the flame must die within two seconds after the duck has been held in fire for twelve seconds. The chemists handed the treated cloth to my friend. He struck a match, held the cloth to the flame for 12 seconds. The cloth began to grow red and curl about the edges. When he removed it, the flame disappeared as if by magic.

It takes a pound of "cure" for every square yard of cloth. The samples have been given to the government agents, and they're waiting for the answer. If the government says okay, this chemical concern is going to have an order for two million pounds of this anti-flame treatment. Nice little order, two million pounds, even in dirt.

THE man who showed me this tent-proofing test showed me something else. It was a little thing that proves how much necessity really is the mother of invention. What he did was bring out a number of fabrics from which men's clothes are made and asked me to identify them. I mean, some cloths are tweeds, others are flannel, others are known as woolens.

"This one," I said, "is flannel." I picked up another and fingered its rough, woolen surface. "This is pure wool," I told him. I gave what I thought were good guesses for all the others. He broke into a laugh.

"This makes me very happy," he told me. "There isn't a thread of wool or flannel or anything else here—except rayon. All this cloth is pure rayon. We've been working on it for years. It looks like wool, it feels like wool, but it's rayon. It's light and summery as a river breeze. That's what we call it, Rivercool. It isn't on the market yet. It won't be until 1943. You'll find lots of rayon material for suiting on the market—but not like this, not the finished goods that makes you think you're looking at imported shetlands and flannels.

We've been at this a long time, but the war is hurrying things along. The time may come when everything you wear will be made out of rayon and glass. Wars do things like that to you, without you even knowing it."

I reached for my new $10 felt chapeau and got out of there before my friend could pick it up and exclaim, "Why, this looks like rayon too."

Gutter Propaganda.

The curious American appetite for dirty stories is being fed these days a series of nasty little items exuding the unmistakable odor of the Goebbels touch.

If you're a man reading this, you've probably heard a couple of them downtown the last few days. They're what are known in the saloon circles as quickies. They're fully as unfunny as they are clever in their aim at planting termites to gnaw on civilian morale.

Ranging from disrespectful references to the White House and its occupants to inanities about shortages and daylight saving time, these nasties fall largely into the fence-scribbing type of raw smut.

These cheapies seem to have sprung from the gutter all of a sudden and all at the same time. We heard four of them within two hours yesterday and a couple the day before.

The Nazi propaganda technique wouldn't overlook sniping at morale with this type of easily repeated dirt. The propagandists overlook practically nothing.—Cleveland Press.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Labor Agrees To Drop Double Pay; Congress Ponders 40-Hour Limit

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE GLOOM was thick around labor leaders in Washington. It wasn't the demands of industrialists such as Tom Girdler, steel man and airplane manufacturer, for the abolition of the 40-hour week that bothered them. These they took for granted.

And though they were worried by the upsurge of demands in congress for changes in the wage-hour law to guarantee maximum arms production, they thought they could explain much of it. They could point, for instance, to a newspaper campaign in Oklahoma (where tear-out pledges to vote against congressmen who failed to support repeal of the 40-hour week were printed) and claim that much of the upsurge was generated by an organized campaign.

What really threw them into a near funk was a statement to a house committee by the liberal, trust-busting New Dealer, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold.

In bitter terms seldom, if ever, used by a New Deal official, Arnold accused unions of many misdeeds.

Arnold related how labor in Chicago had "forced on consumers a luxury system of milk delivery"; how defense was held up by a union barrier against the use of spray guns in southern California; how unions had tried to prevent use of pre-fabricated housing material; and how unions have required employers to hire a man who has nothing to do but turn on a switch.

Was Speech An Omen?

Did the statement represent a new viewpoint of the administration? If so, labor leaders knew they had become involved in a war on two fronts—against a large congressional group and against the administration. The prospect made them shudder.

As the new week began the clamor in congress for change in labor laws mounted. Even Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) of the house called for a change.

In this setting Donald Nelson, production czar, went to speak before assembled CIO leaders. Labor held its breath.

He talked bluntly, but sympathetically. They could rely on him, he said, not to use the war situation "to whittle down labor's rights and privileges."

"We are moving," he explained, "as fast as we can toward seven-day, three-shift operation of our basic war industries."

He assured his listeners that he thought the 40-hour week should be retained with provision for pay at extra rates for work in excess of 40 hours.

But on the other hand he told them that labor must give up for the duration double pay for Sunday and holiday work falling within a regular work week.

Asks Congress To Hold Off.

Next day, he went before congress and asked it to give him a 30-day time limit to obtain from labor voluntary suspension of double pay for week-ends and holidays before passing any laws on the matter.

In upholding the 40-hour week he pointed out that it does not prevent men from working more than 40 hours. He pointed out, for instance that men in the machine tool industry now were working an average of 55 hours.

"If we abolish the 40-hour week by law," he said, "we create a wide-spread demand for increases in wage rates, throw the entire wage structure out of adjustment. . . ." FDR backed up Nelson.

So relieved were the CIO and AFL that both groups immediately agreed with Nelson's request to give up double time pay for week-ends and holidays when such work is performed within the 40-hour week.

Despite these moves the house drive pressed forward for suspending the 40-hour week in war industries.

Abroad

Hitler's Feuding Wards.

Germany's "New Order" has now had more than a year to prove itself in the Balkans. What has been the result? Chaotic disorder prevails.

Principal feuders are Hungary and Rumania. Back at the end of World War 1 the allies awarded Rumania a chunk of Hungary called Transylvania. In late 1940 Adolf Hitler rewarded subservient Hungary by giving the area back to her.

Since the invasion of Russia Hitler has been playing the two off against each other to squeeze the maximum military help out of each.

Rumania has contributed heavily in men, is now complaining she has lost 115,000 in Russia. Meanwhile the Hungarians have been stubbornly non-cooperative about sending more men. A few weeks ago Germany was reported demanding that Hungary contribute 1,500,000. Still Hungary held back.

So during the week the Nazis turned on the heat. They allowed the Rumanian press to begin clamoring for a return of Transylvania. And a Nazi official in Turkey ominously predicted the fall of the Kallay government of Hungary and its replacement with a "real Quisling government."

Changed Tune.

The Japanese people, flushed with military successes, got a bucket of cold water full in their faces.

Nipponese spokesmen had changed their tune. The commander of their home defenses warned that it was "absolutely possible" for the U. S. to make air raids on Japan proper either from the Aleutian Islands off Alaska or from Chinese bases. Weather conditions, he warned, would soon permit raids from the Aleutians.

And a navy spokesman told them bluntly that Japan "now is on the defensive" and that the United Nations might assault Nippon from aircraft carriers and island bases alike.

Indians Hear the Low-Down.

Indian leaders—Hindus of the Congress Party, Moslems of the Moslem League, dissident Hindus, dissident Moslems, Princes, "Untouchables" — all descended on New Delhi. Sir Stafford Cripps had arrived with Britain's plan for granting India dominion status after the war, and he had asked leaders of all factions to be on hand at New Delhi from last Wednesday on, for consultations.

Qualified sources in London said that one of Cripps' main assignments was to determine how well the Congress Party, representing a majority of the Indians, could muster native opposition to a Japanese invasion.

Students' Distractions.

As American colleges are drastically speeding up their terms a Colgate educator suggests that much time could be saved if fellows and girls studied separately. He said that during a co-educational study period at the University of Illinois, 40% of the period was wasted in conversation, use of vanity cases, aimles leafing of books, etc. In contrast, he said an all-male study group at Colgate wasted only 26% of the period.

Case of the Black Toupee.

A stick-up man with shiny black locks of hair pushed a sack and note through a New York theater ticket window. The note read: "This is a hold-up. Put the money in the bag." As he leaped into a car and drove away with $50, the feminine ticket seller dashed out, noted down his license number. Police soon picked up car with that number, but the driver was bald-headed. They searched the car and found a black toupee.

Reluctant Sailors.

So extensive has been the desperation of alien seamen who enter American ports that the government has been hampered in sending supplies to the allies. About 8,000 have deserted, most of them Greeks, Norwegians, Britons, Danes, Swedes and Dutch. During the week the Justice Department began a nationwide roundup. In addition to the hazards at sea, differentials in pay were said to be a cause of the desertions.

The House That Jack Built

FABULOUS stories spread through Cleveland about the working conditions at nearby Jack & Heintz, Inc., maker of airplane starters and automatic plane pilots.

Lunches for workers (or "associates") were "on the house." . . . Anyone in the plant could have free coffee and hamburgers at any hour. . . . Men worked to music from a library of nearly 10,000 recordings. . . . Everybody received free a monthly $37.50 defense bond, dental care and hospital care for wives having babies. . . . At Christmas each worker got an 18-jewel wrist watch, a huge turkey and a $600 bonus.

The 800 employes, by their own choosing, worked 12-hour shifts and apparently loved it. There were 15,000 people on the waiting list.

The house naval committee became curious, began prying into the affairs of this war plant headed by William S. Jack, former AFL business agent.

It has $58,000,000 in government contracts. Last year it made at least $1,000,000. Company officials figure that profits, before bonuses were given were about 20%. The committee's counsel said profits were nearer 100%. He charged that the navy had been paying $600 for starters costing $272 to make.

Of the 1941 profit, $650,000 was paid back to "associates" as bonuses. Jack gave himself $145,000, including bonuses, and his plump private secretary, Adelaide Bowman, about $40,000. Said she: "Mr. Jack is generous and is the most wonderful man in the world."

Recently Jack "cut a melon" for all earning over $10,000. The greatful secretary got another $13,000 slice, for 10 weeks' work.

The committee's counsel charged that Jack and Heintz, Inc., paid the huge bonuses to employes and officials in order to decrease profits and thereby avoid excess profits levies.

Congressmen gaped at the disclosures. Rep. Young (D-Ohio) lamented that unless congress acted to limit war profits "the war will produce more millionaires than World War I".

How to Limit Profits?

When Chairman Walsh of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee proposed that the government recapture all war profits above 6%, WPB Director Nelson opined that 6% is "plenty in the average case." But he cautioned that mandatory barriers against profits higher than 6% would impede the conversion of small business to war work.

The House Ways and Means Committee began considering sharp boosts in excess profits taxes as a means of recapturing "excessive profits."

A chastened Jack, meanwhile, promised to cut his company's profits to 6% for the duration. Also he said he would reduce prices, cut his own salary to $15,000—but would continue bonuses and free lunches for workers. Miss Bowman volunteered to have her salary cut to $6,000 a year.

MISS MARY J. WARGA WEDS PETER KINKEL

Quiet Ceremony Performed for Couple This Morning Before Altar of St. John's Evangelical Church By Rev. P. H. Saleste.

MISS MARY JANE WARGA became the bride of Peter Kinkel in a quiet ceremony performed this morning at 10 a.m. before the altar of St. John's Evangelical church by Rev. Paul Saleste. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Warga, 151 Mendota street and Mr. Kinkel, who resides at 220 Clairmont avenue, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinkel of New York City.

For her wedding the bride wore a yellow, twopiece crepe street length frock with light lilac accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of yellow tea roses and violets. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kinkel, jr., cousins of the bridegroom, attended the couple. Mrs. Kinkel was attired in a navy blue wool tailored suit with beige accessories and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Warga appeared at her daughter's wedding in a navy blue street length frock with powder blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses. A reception was held for 20 guests after the ceremony. Luncheon was served at a long table decorated with mixed spring flowers, lighted tapers and centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. The couple is leaving tomorrow for a month's vacation trip to New York City and through the eastern states. For traveling the bride will wear a beige wool tailored suit with red accessories.

Upon their return the couple will reside with the bride's parents. Mrs. Kinkel was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and is employed at the North American Knitting company. Mr. Kinkle was graduated from schools in Union, N. J. and is employed at the North American Knitting company. Out-of-town guests in attendance at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Schad, Mr. and Mrs. Jock Schad and Mr. and Mrs. Turbett of Peoria, Ill.

The next meeting will be held April 29 at the home of Mrs. Pauline Swollen, 137 Blymyer avenue.

LAND FOR GARDENS

HOUSTON, Tex.—(U.P.)—George Hamman, retired banker and philanthropist, has opened his 1,650 acres of truck garden land to any person wishing to raise vegetables for his family during the war effort. He has even agreed to plow and harrow the land free.

Mrs. C. A. Hines Creates Unusual Table Centerpiece

Opening meeting on the 1942 program of the Astowela Garden club was held Friday at the Women's Club with Mrs. H. N. Keene Mrs. L. W. Birch and Mrs. L. A. Ott as hostesses. Mrs. Richard Fensch, president, extended greetings and spoke of changed conditions. She reminded the group that "Gardening is good for morale."

Mrs. D. C. Lavender was appointed defense stamp chairman. Garden Center activities, which were in charge of the club during the month of March, were described by Mrs. A. R. Perl. She gave a report on the lecture presented by Louis Bromfield. Mrs. H. G. Balyeat, conservation chairman, told the group about the project at Charles Mill dam.

Luncheon was served at a large table beautifully decorated by Mrs. C. A. Hines. There were red and white carnations in a blue bowl. Around this Mrs. Hines had placed hanks of red, white and blue yarn and knitting needles. Red, white and blue candles, small drums and wax figures of soldiers completed the decorations.

Members voted to contribute money toward a camping trip for youngsters at the Children's Home.

Miss Carolyn Walter and Mrs. Keene will entertain at the former's home on April 10. Mrs. Paul McCcnnell will speak on "Color Schemes and Succession of Bloom."

Golden Rule Class Meets

The parish house of the First Lutheran church was the scene Friday afternoon of a meeting of the Golden Rule class. Forty-one members and three guests were in attendance for the regular business session and social meeting.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Marie Lomax, president. Mrs. Sadie Doolittle read a poem entitled "Spring." A reading given by Mrs. W. C. B. Harris was called "Back Window." Luncheon was served by Mrs. Fannie Pollock and her committee. Next meeting will be held on May 28 with Mrs. Charles Gorman and committee in charge.

TRAIN LATIN FLIERS

OLYMPIA, Wash.—(U.P.)—Eleven young cadet aviators from eight countries of South and Central America are undergoing beginners' and advanced flying training at a local air school, preparatory to teaching their own countrymen the knack of flying. They came to United States under the auspices of the war department.

'Victory Gardens' Discussed by Mrs. Endriss

Twenty-one members of the Town and Country Garden club were present when Mrs. Lloyd Shawber, 473 Marion avenue, entertained at her home on Friday. Mrs. Verne Henry presided at the luncheon table which was centered with an attractive arrangement of spring flowers.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. R. H. Emerson, Mrs. C. H. Bell was appointed chairman of defense stamps, a project which the club decided to undertake to further the sale of stamps. The group also decided to purchase a $100 Victory bond.

Mrs. Walter Willis, horticultural chairman, spoke on "The Menaces and Control of Japanese Beetles." She stressed the importance of garden clubs, civic groups and individuals joining forces to urge their respective municipal governments to take action at once.

Mrs. Paul Endriss was in charge of the program on "Victory Gardens." Her comprehensive discussion covered the subject from the planting of the seeds to the harvesting of the crops. She emphasized, however, the importance of growing flowers as well as fruits and vegetables in such a garden.

The club will meet on April 10 at the home of Mrs. Derl Arehart, 668 Millsborough road.

Paper, Synopses Of Operas Given At Club Meeting

Mrs. Paul McConnell entertained 23 members of the Cosmopolitan club at her home on Edgewood road on Friday. Associate hostesses were Mrs. D. S. Porch and Mrs. F. T. Wendt. The club voted on names presented by the nominating committee and elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. V. H. Lodde; vice president, Mrs. E. K. Troll; secretary, Mrs. C. A. McClure, and treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Gongwer.

Program consisted of a paper given by Mrs. W. T. Marquis, and music by Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine and Mrs. George W. Hall. Mrs. Marquis spoke on "Our Modern Highway System." She stressed highways of the future and the military importance of roads at present. She also told of the proposed highways to Alaska and South America.

Assisted by Mrs. Hall at the piano and by recordings, Mrs. Hazeltine presented synopsis of operas which will be given in Cleveland. She sang two numbers, "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin" and "Vissi D'Arte" from "Tosca."

Tea was served from a table centered with roses. Mrs. Lodde poured. Meeting on April 10 will be held at the Women's Club with Mrs. H. G. Balyeat as hostess.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, March 29.

Sunday's horoscope although holding some promise for the clergy and mystical or philanthropic pursuits in a general way is not a fortunate one. It has auguries of portentous and trying affairs both of an enduring and sudden nature. There may be surprising and unlooked for upheavals, changes and other precipitate events, with disappointments.

Those whose birthday it is may have some success during the year through public, political or organized bodies, through discreet and tactful action. Generally there are portentous affairs concerning writings, travel, strange persons or experiences.

A child born on this day though it may be clever, original and public spirited, may meet with reverses, delays, and disconcerting adventures in life.

For Monday, March 30.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a difficult and disturbing day, with much stirring but of an adverse nature. There may be agitation, excitement, quarrels and violence. Rash conduct, with bitter, insulting and impulsive words and deeds may provoke reprisals as well as regrets.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of adversity and disturbance mainly brought about by their own rash, irritable, and passionate temper. Words and deeds may stir up reprisals and unhappy encounters. Indulgence, excesses and bad judgment in use of funds either in investments, speculation or high living also bring discredit.

A child born on this day may be wayward, indulgent, passionate and impulsive. Its pursuit of pleasure may cause much disturbance and regret. Early training and discipline are recommended.

Council Hears Guest Speakers At Luncheon Meet

Mrs. W. L. Parkinson gave an interesting talk on her recent trip to Panama at the luncheon meeting of the Republican Women's Council held Friday at Radio City hall. Mrs. Parkinson also displayed a number of articles she purchased during her 10-month vacation. Adjt. Paul Hoffman of the Salvation Army also gave a talk on the work being done in the city by that group.

Luncheon was served at a long table attractively decorated with Easter appointments. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Archie May, Mrs. Ralph Davis, and Mrs. R. J. Kelly. The next regular meeting will be held on April 29 at Radio City hall, with Mrs. Anna Flegal as hostess.

Garden Study Club Has Meet

Mansfield Garden Study club members held a meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. D. Bower, 468 Sturges avenue. Dessert luncheon was served on trays decorated with yellow and white Easter appointments. Mrs. Clarence Lisle conducted the information please.

Mrs. D. W. Forkner gave a talk on horticulture. Mrs. L. E. Strain gave an interesting paper on "Ground Cover Plants." The next regular meeting of the club will be held April 10 at the home of Mrs. D. E. Patterson, Ausdale avenue.

Buena Vista Meeting Held

Twelve members and children and nine guests were present when Mrs. Gerald Dudley entertained the Buena Vista Community club at her home on Crider road Thursday. Guests were Mrs. Walter Brindle, Mrs. Harold Hamblin and children, Mrs. Louis Peterson and son, Mrs. Donald Hout and children.

Following the covered-dish dinner the business session was opened by Mrs. George Weimer, president. The club decided to do Red Cross work. Next meeting will be held April 23 at the home of Mrs. Florein Landin, Miffling township.

GARDEN CLUB HEARS ABOUT NEW FLOWERS

Mrs. Leo D. Stuhldreher Is Speaker for Meeting of Mansfield Garden Club at Home of Mrs. Stephens.

WHEN Mrs. George Stephens, 356 Marion avenue, was hostess to the Mansfield Garden club on Friday, her home was beautifully decorated with flowers. Attractive centerpiece for the dining room table was a large "V" composed of white gladioli and bachelor buttons. Also outstanding were two other floral arrangements, one of calla lilies, the other of purple and lavender stocks.

Mrs. Burton Preston was associate hostess for the meeting. For the program, Mrs. Leo D. Stuhldreher gave a very interesting talk on "New Flowers for Our Gardens." She revealed that a new French type marigold has been introduced. Of the "pin cushion" variety and canary yellow in color, it has been named "Butterball." There is a new yellow cosma and Mrs. Stuhldreher said that new petunias come in a variety of colors.

Other flowers that will be seen in gardens of 1942 are helianthus in a sun-gold shade, alyssum in a violet hue, and verbenas that include May flowers, a Helen Wilmontt blossom, that is white, and two new shades, cerise and purple. Mrs. Stuhldreher described the new Boston daisy as a showy, yellow flower which blooms freely. Ever-popular hardy chrysanthemums have new blooms too. The "Pale Moon" type, a beautiful, double white flower, blooms just before cold weather arrives. The "Algonquin" is a double yellow flower and the "Granny Scovill" is red. New "spoon" varieties of chrysanthemums come in yellow, orchid and white.

Mrs. Alan Tappan presented an interesting report of the flower show which was held in New York. During the business session, Mrs. Carville Gorman was appointed "Victory Garden" chairman. Mrs. William Bowers has been named to promote interest in the purchase of defense bonds and stamps.

When refreshments were served following the program, Mrs. Ephraim Brown and Mrs. Frederick Crouse presided at the table. On April 10 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. John Hattery. Mrs. Charles Keating will be associate hostess and the group will hear Louis Bromfield speak on "Our Victory Gardens."

Sorority Has Initiation for Nine Pledges

In an impressive candlelight service at the Southern hotel last evening, nine pledges became members of Beta Kappa Tau sorority. For the ceremony the initiates assembled around a long table centered with red and blue sweet peas and lighted white candles. Each pledge was presented with a shoulder corsage of red roses and blue sweet peas.

Miss Louise Enderlee, toastmistress, gave toasts in verses by Richard H. Sotherland to Miss Rose Huck, president, and Miss Betty Ullich. Response for the initiates was given by Miss Ullich. The group concluded the program by singing sorority songs.

The new members are Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. Leslie Snyder, Mrs. Wayne Terry, Mrs. William Knarr and the Misses Barbara Berno, Maxine Pearson, Eleanor Ropp, Elaine Downs and Betty Ullich. Arrangements for formal initiation were made by Miss Enderlee, Miss Holly Baker, Mrs. Richard Darling and Mrs. Edward Dune.

A business meeting will be held by the sorority at the Southern hotel on Monday, March 30.

COUNCILLORS MEET.

Members of the Past Councillors, Daughters of America, held a meeting Friday afternoon at the Eagles hall. Miss Ida Hunter, president, conducted the business session. Bridge was played during the afternoon. Dinner was served at 6 p. m. by Mrs. Hazel Stichler and her comimttee. The next regular meeting will be held April 24 at the Eagles hall.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

At Bill's warning, I saw Gus brace himself in the low seat opposite the rear one where I was lying, and hold his arm rigidly in front of me, so that if I should lose my balance he could break my fall.

Unexpectedly we emerged then into a small clearing, where the road widened a bit and skirted the shores of a tiny mountain lake.

Across the lake on a steeply sloping shore stood a picturesque cottage of stone, with a porch facing the lake. But I looked in vain for a driveway broad enough to accommodate an automobile.

"Jim Watson says the old man don't keep no car," Gus volunteered, anticipating my question.

"But Watson says for the last month or two he's had a man working for him—somebody he got from off somewhere; nobody around here known him. And he's about as queer as Diswell; never goes anywhere."

The car ahead of us was in sight now. It had stopped, and the slighter man was running back toward us. Joe brought our big car to a stop and Jim Watson—Gus identified him to me in a whisper—came up to the front of it. Joe opened the door and we heard Watson's low-voiced query.

"What's your plan?"

"Ask them," I told Gus, "if there's some underbrush just ahead where you can hide the cars, and some of you keep a lookout for the gangsters' car."

"Okay," Gus whispered back, and went to the front of the car where I heard him put the query to Watson.

"Hell, yes," Watson replied. "There's a dandy place just a few feet further on, where there used to be a wood road, but it's never used now. You could hide six cars in there, and we can fix it so they'll never know any car has left this road."

"Then let's get going," Gus said. Jim Watson turned at once and sprinted down the road to his car. Joe started ours, and in another two minutes we were in the old wood road, completely hidden by underbrush, and all the men were busily obliterating the tire tracks.

"Those babies will never know there's a soul here," Jim Watson said, when he came back to the cars. Then he and the storekeeper, Branchman, stared in amazement as they caught sight of me.

"I think I shall have to explain," I told them apologetically. "I am the person who wishes to see Professor Diswell. Gus insists upon going with me to the front door. But I know that my father, of the government service, who sent me on this errand, would wish part of you to hide yourselves as near the house as possible, and two of you wait here near the road to see what the gangsters do when they come."

"Don't forget the whistle!" Gus said militantly, and I raised it in my hand and showed it to them.

"Two short whistles," I said, feeling extremely ridiculous, "will mean that I need Gus only. But one sharp blast will mean that you all are needed, but that you must come cautiously."

"We get you," Jim Watson said, "and we'll be on hand."

"Thank you," I replied. "And now is there any way of getting to the front door of that cottage without going back along the road to the path?"

CHAPTER VIII

"Well, I might talk to him."

"Tell you what. I'm riding out that way tomorrow. I'll send him around. I'd like to see him get a good place. Surely you remember the Carrs!"

"Don't recall them, Thurston."

"They came here from New York state. Had some money. Started off in big style—horses, carriage, everything. He tried trading in real estate. Lost it all. Wife went crazy—she's been in the asylum here twice, but he keeps her at home now and looks after her himself. He's a good man."

"Um—send him to see me."

"It'd be a mercy, ma'am, if you could take him. I heard she was a graduate of Vassar college back there, but she's crazy as a loon now. Got dropsy, too. Fat as an elephant."

"Dangerous, do you think? I wouldn't want to have—"

"Oh, no, no! Not at all. Just sits and sings. Too fat to move."

"Heavens. I'll be glad if I can help the poor man. What a life that must be!"

The fires of Indian summer burned on every hill, and the nostalgic odors of autumn filled the air. It was the most stirring of all seasons in this region.

One warmish day a crowd of boys swarmed down the hill after school, shouting the relief of their escape from the stuffy classrooms. It was Fulmer Green's "gang." Fulmer Green had won through to undisputed leadership after two years of bullying fights and the commission of such minor depradations as gained him the admiration and adherence of his kind. His mother, ambitious for a better standing in Kings Row since they had moved "uptown," tried to break Fulmer's old associations. So far she was unsuccessful.

The boys swooped down the hill and passed through the tiny streets of Jinktown.

"Looky!" Fulmer Green pointed to the blue cottage at the end of the street. "That's where ol' crazy Ben lives." He picked up a rock and threw it in a long easy curve. It landed with a loud thump on the rotten shingles. The boys shouted gleefully.

"C'mon, let 'em have some more." A shower of rocks clattered on the low roof, making the splinters of dry wood fly in every direction.

Mrs. Singer came out on the front step. "Get on with you! You're going to hurt somebody first thing you know."

The boys did not answer. They grinned and shuffled a shade uneasily. Mrs. Singer went into the house and closed the door. A heavy clod shattered against the panels, and yells of laughter greeted Fulmer Green's daring and spirited answer.

"C'mon," he commanded, looking back at the house as they passed. "Who does she think she is, anyhow? Crazy, that's what she is. People like that ain't got no business livin' round Kings Row, nohow."

One of the bolder boys sent another rock banging against the side of the house. Mrs. Singer appeared once more. "Go on, now," she called. "You quit that, or I'll have the law on you."

Fulmer stood in the road facing her squarely. "Aw, you shut up," he said.

"Go on, go on. If you don't behave yourselves, I'll sick the dog on you!" She closed the door once more.

"I'll tell you," he said. "Let's give her ol' house one good rockin' then we'll run."

A hail of stones fell on and around the house. A few windowpanes shattered with loud crashes. At that moment Benny, returning from a neighbor's, ran down the road and yelled at the top of his voice, "Stop that, stop throwin' rocks at our house, you dirty ol'—dirty ol' snoozers, you!"

The stones whizzed so close to his head he had to dodge. He ran quickly around the house and reappeared with an old rusty pitchfork. Holding it ahead of him, he charged straight at his tormentors. Benny chased them well out of Jinktown, and came back wiping the sweat from his face with his sleeve.

A week later Drake McHugh came to see Parris after school. "Did you hear about Benny Singer?"

"No, what?"

"He had a kind of fight over there in Jinktown with Fulmer Green's gang. They rocked Benny's house and he got after 'em with a big pitchfork. He pretty near got some of 'em, too. Guess he'd have killed 'em."

"Goodness, I never saw Benny fight, did you?"

"No, but he went for 'em that time. Fulmer told his daddy, and they had Benny arrested."

"Sure enough? Did they put him in jail?"

"Just one night. Mr. Green said he ought to be sent to a reform school, but Colonel Skeffington was on Benny's side—he got him off. But they bound Benny's mother over to keep the peace."

"Fulmer Green is kind of low-down, I think, don't you?"

"Sure he is. He's a stinker."

Parris told his grandmother the story that evening after supper. She was indignant. So was Colonel Skeffington, whom they met on the bank steps next day.

"Hear you're keeping Parris out of school, Marie. Mighty fine idea, too. Public school's full of ruffians like that Green youngster. Send your boy to public school and he rubs against all kinds. That's democracy for you!"

"Are they going to do anything about the Singer boy, Colonel?"

"Not now, but somebody will aggravate that boy until he does something desperate. 'Twon't be his fault, but they'll blame him, and he'll be in serious trouble."

"Don't you think it would be a good idea to get some sort of employment for him—out of the way somewhere?"

"It would, ma'am. A mighty sensible one. I don't suppose you could take him on your place, could you?"

"I've got more help of that kind than I can use, but if you can't find anything else, let me know. I'm sure he doesn't belong in the asylum, as people are saying."

Colonel Skeffington flared above his shining red beard. "There you are now! Did you ever notice, Marie, how in this town everybody's always ready to send somebody to the asylum? It's a fact. I think it's a bad thing to have a lunatic asylum in this town! Keeps it in everybody's mind. Probably a lot of people go crazy just because the building stands out there at the end of Federal street. Too confounded convenient." He chuckled and clawed his beard. "What's more, if you'd turn all the lunatics out and put the rest of us in there, I doubt if you could tell any difference."

Colonel Skeffington bowed deeply and turned to go. Then he took off his hat again. "I think the Greens are trash."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

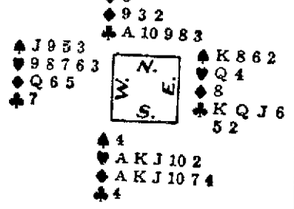
"The Authority on Authorities"

NEVER BE TOO SURE

OPTIMISTIC declarers count on finding three cards of a suit with each opponent when six of them are outstanding, and call it hard luck when they fail to get that division, against which the odds are really about 3 to 2. They expect seven to be divided on a four-three basis, which really occurs a slight majority of the time. The sounder player, however, is just enough of a pessimist to protect himself, if he can, against such divisions as 4-2 and 5-1 in the first case and against 5-2 and even 6-1 in the second, also against the remote chance of one defender having them all if there is a way to do that.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT	Pass	6 ♦

West led his singleton club 7 to the A, and the diamond A and K were cashed, leaving the Q out. South decided to dispose of that Q by offering the diamond 4 and West returned the spade 3 to the A. Next South finessed the Heart J, but when the K dropped the Q he knew he was beaten. There was no earthly way now to prevent West, with his five hearts, from taking the setting trick in that suit.

After the first trick to the club A, South could have guarded himself against a five-two heart break by leading to the Heart A and immediately ruffing the heart 2 in dummy. That would have made his contract for him.

Louis Victory Over Simon Goes In Books as Knockout

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

When Newark high school athletic officials moved their relays up from May 2 to April 28, original date of the now discontinued Mansfield Relays, in order to draw the schools that would ordinarily have entered the Mansfield event, they may have defeated their own purpose.

Mansfield was all set to enter the Newark Relays on May 2, but the Tygers won't be there on April 28. They had already booked a dual meet for the earlier date.

How many other Ohio high schools did the same after the Mansfield Relays were called off is a matter of conjecture.

It seems the Newark date-moving-forward activity has set a precedent for track meets. Now Coach Harry Mehock of the Mansfield team announces the Tyger-Wildcat meet set for Saturday, April 4, has been moved up one day to April 3.

Mehock is a track enthusiast of the first water, but he isn't blind to the public reaction toward foot races and such physical exertions as jumping and heaving things around.

"We'd like to have a few spectators for the Newark meet," says Mehock in explaining the move-up, "and they'd never come out on Saturday. Maybe we can at least get a high school crowd on Friday."

* * *

The Newark meet will be the first on the Mansfield schedule, and as usual the Wildcats can be counted on to supply plenty of competition.

Newark will depend largely on a promising batch of sophomore sprinters to win track points this spring. "But those sophomores have better marks than my veterans," Mehock moans.

But Newark won't have the great Bill Craig back to spread-eagle the field in the weights, discus, and javelin, high jump and hurdles.

As for the Mansfield team:

"We'll be a lot better than we were last year," Mehock promises, "and we may win some meets. But up to now I haven't discovered any world-beaters on my squad.

"We will have a fairly veteran outfit, compared to the green team of a year ago, and that experience should count."

* * *

Perhaps my brain is in a slump,
I find it difficult to shout
While thin-clad laddies run and jump.
And grunt, and throw things all about.

Yep, I gotta admit it. I'm no track fan. My few remaining red corpuscles fail to get a lift out of the thought of stripping down to a suit of glorified undies and romping around in the chill winds of early spring.

Now when the season is farther advanced, and the strip can be carried down to a pair of trunks, and the sun is shining and the air is conducive to a bit of lolling about, and an occasional dunk in the drink—baby, that's for me.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. —(AP)—Whitlow Wyatt, the recent Brooklyn holdout, takes his first turn on the mound today against the Detroit Tigers.

ABC Goes To Coast For 1944

Los Angeles Puts Over Bid For Alley Classic.

By JOHN CARR

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Los Angeles will be the scene of the 1944 American Bowling congress tournament, marking the first time that the tournament has ever gone to the west coast in the event's 44-year old history.

* * *

Headed by Harold Lloyd, the bespectacled comedian of Hollywood fame, who turned in a super-salesman's job, the Los Angeles delegation polled 278 votes yesterday to cop the award from their strongest competitor, Indianapolis, which received 154 votes. San Francisco, the third city bidding, collected 64 votes.

* * *

Designation of Los Angeles as the 1944 site closed the 42nd annual convention of the American Bowling congress at which Martin G. Unmacht, Dubuque, Iowa, was elected presindent for a one-year term ending 1943. He succeeds Judge John L. Rounds of St. Paul, Minnesota.

Enumerating the facilities and demand on the west coast for an ABC tournament, Lloyd reminded the convention that the tournament "has never been west."

"Taking it into virgin territory will help pump new blood into a rapidly growing sport in California," Lloyd remarked.

Referring to rumors that the war would cancel Los Angeles' possibilities as a tournament site, Lloyd said, "We are not talking about war conditions two years from now. But let's give a vote of confidence by sending the tournament to the coast and showing we think we can lick the Japs before two years are over."

Turning ahead the hands of time for the ABC tournament after 1944, representatives from Atlantic City, Chicago, New Orleans, Philadelphia, St. Paul and Syracuse, spoke briefly on the tournament merits of their respective cities.

* * *

Some 65 amendments to the congress constitution were passed, among these latter was one completely barring the operation of handbooks, pools or "schemes of chance" in any bowling establishment and that no team may accept sponsorship from gambling corporations, syndicates or individuals.

Shifting back to the tournament itself, Walter Frey of Cleveland raced far into the lead in the all-events division with a 1964 nine-game aggregate—an average of 218 per game.

The doubles again underwent the most drastic change of the minor events when three new duos appeared on the high ten standings board, with Harry Larsen and Gilbert Zook of Hinsdale, Ill., taking sixth place with 1287 to lead the way.

Walter Kolloff and Sid Baum of New York tallied 1277 for an eighth place tie while Chester Arnhorst and Joey Falcaro, also of New York, hit 1264 for tenth place.

Lone change in the singles saw Larry Shotwell of Cincinnati, 1930 title-holder with 774—present all time record series of the classic—blast a 693 count for seventh place.

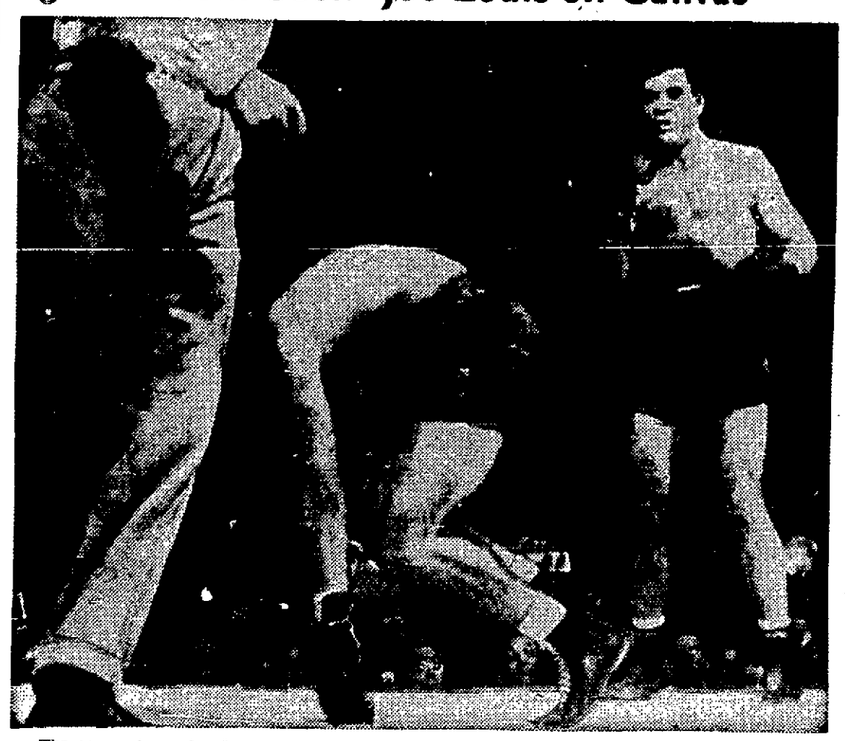
Sight Seldom Seen--Joe Louis on Canvas



The momentum of a haymaker swing that didn't connect throws Champion Joe Louis off his balance in the first round of his fight with Abe Simon in New York's Madison Square Garden. Joe, now a private in the U. S. Army, didn't deliver the K. O. punch until the sixth round, when Ample Abe was counted out after the first 16 seconds. The bout was staged for the Army Relief Fund with Louis donating his entire purse of $50,000. It was his 21st successful title defense and second straight fight without pay.

Ohio State League Ordered Dissolved by Judge Bramham

FREMONT —(INS)— Failure of member clubs to post the $600 guarantees required before Feb. 15 today resulted in the dissolution of the class D Ohio State Baseball league.

The decree was issued by Judge W. G. Bramham, minor league commissioner, President Fred Rinehart of the Fremont club disclosed today. League players not disposed of before Feb. 15 are free agents, Judge Bramham ruled.

Rinehart said that teams in the league were notified that they could post guarantees before March 22, a date set by league President Joe Donnelly. Fremont, Fostoria, Lima and Tiffin has put up the required guarantee before the deadline. Two other clubs, Mansfield and Findlay, have not posted guarantees.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio State Baseball league President Joe Donnelly said today he still hoped to operate with four teams this season.

Donnelly said he believed the league would be permitted to function if he could "get the teams set" quickly.

"The whole thing hinges on whether Grover Hartley has sold the Findlay franchise," the league president asserted. "If he has, the league will play."

* * *

Fostoria and Mansfield are "definitely out," he declared, leaving four teams—Findlay, Fremont, Lima and Tiffin.

The loop was ordered dissolved because clubs failed to post guarantees by Feb. 15. Fred Rinehart of Fremont reported a deadline misunderstanding.

Donnelly explained that his correspondence with Bramham led him to believe the March 22 date was satisfactory.

North Vikings Bid for Title

Have Record of Tourney Experience In Favor.

KENT — (AP) — Backed by the prestige of two previous titles, Akron North's Vikings battle it out today with Toledo Central Catholic, Xenia Central and Darkhorse Canton Lehman for the 1942 class A state basketball championship.

After piloting the Vikings to 22 wins in 24 starts, Coach "Lu" Mosfield sends them against Toledo Catholic Central—triumphant in 28 of 30—in the 2 p. m. semi-final at Wills gym.

Xenia Central was a decided favorite over Coach Jim Snyder's Canton club in the other semi-final clash at 3:15 p. m. The Xenias have won 19 straight and all season have dropped only one of their 24 games, while Lehman has the poorest record of the four clubs competing in the one-day tournament. It has lost seven while winning 16.

Akron, which won the championship in 1935 and 1939 and lost in the finals to Dover in 1937, is the only bar to some precedent-breaking. No team ever has won from Toledo, Canton or Xenia since the Ohio High School Athletic association took charge of the meet in 1923, and a Toledo triump also would make it the first time for a Catholic school in the class A event. Martins Ferry, the defending champion, was eliminated in the earlier going.

BUCK STAR CAPTURES COLLEGE DIVING TITLE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(INS)—Ohio State's Frank Dempsey today took the one-meter board diving crown of the national intercollegiate swimming championships. He scored 134.8 points to nose out his teammate, Charlie Batterman, who was second with 128.4.

Ohio State's other pointmakers were Mark Follansbee, who finished second in the 150-yard back stroke, and Johnny Ryan, fifth in the 220-yard free style final.

Earl Mitchell Defeats Dodds

Turns In Upset Win In Cleveland Meet.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Watch out for Earl Mitchell, the Indiana university sophomore, in the one-mile run.

He turned in an upset over Gilbert Dodds, former Ashland college student now running for the Boston Athletic club, at the Knights of Columbus track meet here last night and did it in four minutes, 10.7 seconds.

It was Mitchell's fastest mile and sports fans today tagged him a new threat to New York York university's great miler, Leslie MacMitchell, who didn't make the trip here.

Both Mitchell and Dodds are converted two-milers, but it was the Indiana star's extra ounce of energy that pushed him a foot ahead at the finish. Mitchell recently won the Big Ten two-mile run, and his victory gave him a trophy as the outstanding man in the K. of C. meet.

And like the storied river, Greg Rice rolls on and on. The former Notre Dame distance star used the Cleveland Arena meet to turn in his 45th straight victory, doing two miles in eight minutes, 55.1 seconds. His world mark is four seconds better. Rice finished more than three quarters of a lap in front of Fred Wilt and ancient Joe McCluskey.

Although the Seton Hall college team captured the two mile collegiate relay, the time of seven minutes, 47.1 seconds was more than 13 seconds above its own world mark. Indiana took second and Fordham third.

Ohio State university's one-mile relay team won a close race from Notre Dame and Villanova in three minutes, 22 seconds. The runners who turned in that time, less than five seconds off the world mark, are Ed Porter, Leroy Collins, Russell Owen and Ralph Hammond.

Doing the 600-yard distance in 1:11.3, only 1.1 seconds over John Borican's world mark, Charley Beetham finished ten yards in front of Roy Cochran, who competed for the Great Lakes Training Station. Borican had no trouble in defeating Campbell Kane, Indiana's Big Ten one-mile champion, in the 1,000 yard run. The decathlon titleholder finished in two minutes, 11.2 seconds.

Al Blozis' best heave in winning the 16-pound shot put was 55 feet, 11¼ inches. Several world records were equalled or bettered in the 45-yard events, but starting blocks were used.

* * *

Ohio State's Bob Wright took the 45-yard low hurdles in 5.1 seconds, against the best known time of 5.4 seconds, but lost high hurdles to Hlad, Michigan Normal, who trailed him in the other event. Hlad's time of 5.4 seconds, the same Wright posted in a semi-final heat, compared with a listed world mark of 5.7 seconds.

Referee Says Full Count of Ten Taken

Ample Abe Plans Protest When Boxing Commission Meets Tuesday

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK—(UP)—Joe Louis kept throwing punches that would have knocked down a truck horse, but giant Abe Simon tough and game, continued to lumber in until the most destructive fists in pugilistic history knocked him out in the sixth round—and questionably.

That was the electrifying spectacle of the irresistible force vs. the immovable object which caused 18,220 fans to yell their lungs out at Madison Square Garden last night as Simon, ponderous and awkward, fought on past his three-round deadline and actually menaced the mighty Brown Bomber in the fourth session.

Louis, fighting for the first time since he entered the army and packing more explosive poundage than ever before, achieved his knockout at 16 seconds of the sixth round. At least Referee Eddie Joseph claimed he had counted 10 before Simon pulled himself to his feet after his third trip to the canvas. The Jewish giant and Manager Jimmy Johnston deny this and will present their contentions to the boxing commission Tuesday.

Anyway, Louis accomplished this kayo in less than half the time he required to establish a technical knockout victory over Simon in their first meeting at Detroit last March, when Ample Abe stood up under his pounding until the 13th frame. Simon was on his feet at Detroit when the bout was stopped.

But last night Louis was a far different warrior than the poorly conditioned champion who tangled with Simon at Detroit. Hence, this second meeting was far more dramatic. Brown-skinned Joe packed 207½ pounds last night—all the beef he could carry safely to give him the ultimate in punching power. Simon weighed 255¼.

The champion was out for a quick kayo because (1) he was risking his title without pay for army emergency relief, (2) he wished to impress Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, and the contingent of ringside army officers and the 4,000 soldiers present with his prowess, and (3) he was trying to uphold the prediction of his sick trainer and pal, Jack Blackburn, that Simon wouldn't last three rounds.

From the first round on, Dark Dynamiter Louis hit this massive and slow target right in the puss with blows that had knocked out 48 of his previous 56 professional opponents. Rarely did the champion deliver a body blow. At long range or at close quarters, Bomber Joe smashed Simon on the head. The Detroit Negro was so eager for a quick kayo in the first round that he missed once and half slipped to the canvas. Simon grinned his gargoyle grin.

He gave the giant a terrific battering in the second session and drove big Abe to his knees by the ropes, but the bell rang ending the round at the count of four. Abe came out for the third and began roughing it, butting at Joe with his huge head and hitting low. Referee Joseph penalized Simon the round for low blows, although he hadn't won it anyway.

But Simon did win the fourth—pumping his wagon-tongue left jab into the champion's puzzled face again and again and raising the lump over the champion's right eye that had been slightly blackened in training. Joe's co-manager, Julian Black, was so perturbed by Simon's mistreatment of the champion in this round that he complained to the referee. Referee Josephs warned Black to stay in his corner and keep still.

Angered, Louis tore after big Abe in the fifth and battered the giant all over the ring, bringing blood from his nose and mouth and flooring him, in a sitting position, in Abe's own corner at the close. The bell rang when the count had reached six. Abe's handlers lifted him onto a stool, revived him and sent him out for the sixth.

Louis was on the groggy giant like a tiger, and a barrage of head hooks dropped him in sections in mid-ring on his back. He rolled over, crawled to the ropes and pulled himself up, virtually regaining his feet at the 10-count. Abe wanted to fight some more—couldn't believe he had been counted out for the first time. But it was no go.

* * *

Promoter Mike Jacobs announced that the gross gate was $132,430. Of this the army emergency relief is expected to get about $65,000, including Louis' purse. Simon will receive about $13,000 for his beating.

SET UP RAID PROCEDURE AT SHELBY HIGH

Students, Faculty Participate In Plan to Evacuate Building.

SHELBY—Student and faculty members were assigned to special places for an air raid force at Shelby high school, Principal O. H. Schaaf announced today.

The organization is set up to evacuate the building in 10 minutes in case of emergency.

The alarm is given by ringing the period bell six times. At the first signal, the students go to their lockers for their coats and hats.

When a second alarm sounds, third floor students move to the second floor. At the next signal, the second and third floor students move to the ground floor. If the fire alarm rings, all students leave the building. Students living in the city will go to their homes. Rural students, except Sharon township pupils, go to Central grade school where buses will be waiting to take them home.

Chief air raid warden in charge of the operation is Raymond Hatch, faculty member, who will be assisted by other faculty air raid wardens, Miss Dorothy Tarhave, John Crumrine, Robert Winter, Bruce Archdeacon and Everett Shipman.

Other faculty members assisting are R. B. Graham head of the hospital squad, Lloyd Shirley who has charge of the fire squad and David Randall as police chief.

Students assisting are: Special police: Junior Evans, Joe Garnes, Charles Hart, John Smith, Jack Vail and Herbert Poland; fire squad: Danley Fox, Lawrence Faulkner, Robert Wetz and James Hohler; hospital squad: Billy Lysinger, George Zeiters, Russell Wilkinson, Paul Robinson, Betty Pry, Mildred Ovens and Harriet Young; hospital squad alternates: Wayne Briggs, Francis Hiatt and Kenneth Hageman.

General police: Harry Crawford, Dave Haun, Bill Lysinger, Fred Gibson, Mary McHugh, Allen Spangler, Archie Steele, Lloyd Seitz, Bob Roberts, Jack Robb, Harley Jones, Nancy Laws, Bill Dowds, Salvatore DeVito, Don Abbott, Russell Morris, Robert Ellis, Charles Wilson, Richard Shade and Ray Simon.

ASHLAND HIGH GIVES RECITAL

Donald Johnston Makes His Final Appearance at College.

ASHLAND—Donald W. Johnston, baritone, made a final appearance Friday in the college chapel before his departure for army service. Johnston has been called to active service with his unit, and will leave for Ft. Bragg Tuesday. He has been prominent in Ashland as director of the Male Chorus and Trinity Lutheran church choir, and has become well-known for his operatic singing.

Johnston, who has served as voice instructor on the Ashland college faculty for three years, chose for his first group of selections, "Fussreise" by Wolf, "Zueignung" by Strauss, and the French number "L'heure Exquise" by Hahn.

For his second group, the artist sang several favorites, including "Pilgrim's Song" from Tschaikowsky, "In the Silence of Night," "Rich Man" by Hageman, an American folk tune, "There Was an Old Woman," and his own original composition, "A Child Speaks."

Johnston used for his encores Shadrack," which he sang in his first appearance on the college campus, and "Shorten Bread."

Members of the Trinity Lutheran choir and their families entertained for Johnston Thursday evening with a picnic supper at the Frank Miller Memorial building. The church council presented him with a gift.

cabinet and his family from the Australian town where he arrived.

It was revealed that a steady stream of convoys had arrived in Australia from the Indian ocean, a fact which observers saw as a refutation of any claim that the Japanese already dominated the Indian ocean.

The return of part of the Australian expeditionary force which had been helping the British in other war theaters was a complete secret until yesterday.

Then, before the official announcement, wives and mothers began receiving messages from out of the way Australian ports that their sons and husbands had arrived home safe.

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, new commander in chief of Allied land forces in the southwest Pacific, said in a message to the Australian people today that Australians must make up their minds to stand against any front the Japanese might present.

"This year will determine whether we live or die as a nation," he said.

Report Chinese Re-Take Airdrome

NEW DELHI, India — (U.P.) — Reinforcements of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's 5th and 6th Chinese armies, fighting their way through the encircling Japanese lines, have retaken the Kyungon airdrome on the Burma front and have joined the main Chinese forces at Toungoo, dispatches from the front said today.

It was indicated that the Allied high command had decided to evacuate Toungoo town if necessary before the pressure of two Japanese divisions, up to 40,000 men, but for the present the Chinese lines were holding well and a Burma command communique reported the situation appeared considerably improved.

On the west side of the front, across the wooded Pegu Yoma hills, the Allied line drew back because of the dangerous situation around Toungoo, so that a straight east-west front could be re-established, the communique admitted.

U. S. Subs Sink 36 Jap Warships

LONDON — (INS) — Hard-hitting submarines of the United States Asiatic fleet have sunk 36 Japanese warships, transports and supply ships in less than three weeks, the London Evening Star reported today in a dispatch from Sydney.

Included in this total were said to be one aircraft carrier, five destroyers and 30 transports and supply ships.

In addition, five cruisers and another aircraft carrier were said to have been damaged, along with another 30 transports and supply ships, bringing the total sunk or damaged to 72.

Other United Nations submarines, not American, were said to be operating successfully.

Cripps Satisfied With India Talks

NEW DELHI, India —(AP)— Sir Stafford Cripps, special British envoy to India, declared today he was "entirely satisfied with talks so far" with leaders of various groups in India looking toward a settlement of the Indian problem.

Referring at a press conference to his interview yesterday with Mohandas K. Gandhi, Sir Stafford said he thought it was "extremely helpful." He added he expected to see Gandhi again.

Sir Stafford made it clear that he was sticking to his original plan to stay in India a fortnight. But he added:

"I don't propose to leave India until I know one way or the other whether our proposals are acceptable."

ernment decided to use the agreements for political and military purposes, he continued, and as a result, Farben refused to inform Standard of synthetic rubber processes and declined to permit manufacture of the product in the United States.

Truman has characterized this arrangement as "treason" and bitterly castigated Standard officials. They will be given an opportunity to answer the charges next Tuesday.

Arnoud said there are "more than 100" similar cartel agreements and that the justice department's anti-trust division, which he heads, is investigating them all.

RAID STAGED BY FBI ON 'HOME'

Agents Find Short Wave Sets, Subversive Literature In Seamen's Residence.

which resulted in the turning up of the short wave transmitter, the receivers, and the claimed subversive literature.

The "bag" was not as large as it was when the German Seamen's Home was raided shortly after the United States entered the first World War. In that raid 200 aliens were arrested.

E. N. Conroy, head of the FBI office in Newark who led the raiders, said that probably they would spend the entire day at the Home sifting throught the mass of letters and printed matter seized in the rooms of the occupants.

Asked if any wanted men had been found at the Home or if the raid had been made on definite information, the G-men said that it was part of a systematic plan to comb the state thoroughly for Nazi sympathizers.

soap, small laundry bags and indelible pencils as necessary to the store of supplies as some of the major items.

Contributions will be considered as a loan to the medical division, Hardy explained, unless they are donated outright. Facilities that have not been used, or remain in good condition, will be restored to owners at the end of the war.

Donors are asked to take their supplies to John Simpson school any day during the week of the drive between 9 a. m. and 12 noon, and 1p. m. to 4 p. m. The building may also be open one or two evenings to accomodate persons unable to make their contributions in the day time.

Checks for supplies may be made out to the Civilian Defense Medical Division and sent to Miss Faye Chamberlain. Visiting Nurses association at the City building. Cash donations will be used to buy all necessary medicines and certain standardized equipment.

Miss Chamberlain. Dr. Leopold Adams, chairman of the Medical Division, and Dr. C. R. Keller are other members serving with Hardy on the ways and means committee.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. KOPPLER

ASHLAND—Mrs. Lena Belle Koppler, 56, wife of Jacob Koppler, died at her home here early today following an illness of three months.

Born in Perry township, Aug. 28, 1885, she was a life-long Ashland county resident. She lived in Ashland for the past four years. She was a member of the Evangelical church.

Survivors are her husband, two sons, Benjamin of Ashland, and Carl with the U. S. army; seven daughters, Mrs. Marion Hartsel, Ashland R. D. 5; Mrs. Frank Walters, Akron R. D. 4, Mrs. Charles McQuillan, Valley City, Mrs. John Whitmer and Mrs. William Ray, Ashland, Mrs. Robert Hummel and Annabelle at home. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Clarence McNabb, Mrs. Emma Green, and Mrs. Della Eighinger, all of Ashland; and three brothers, Godfrey Streit of Lorain, Charles and Benjamin Streit of Ashland.

Following short funeral services at the home at 1:45 p. m. Monday, regular services will be held at 2:30 p. m., at Nankin Federated church.

BRITISH RAID SUB BASE ON FRENCH COAST

Paratroops Aid Assault at St. Nazaire; Fighting Still Raging.

Atlantic, with submarines ranging as far as the American east coast.

The German communique, broadcast from Berlin, claimed that the American destroyer was blown up by Nazi gunfire before it had rammed a harbor lock in the Loire river and that 100 British prisoners were taken. A number of British ships were reported damaged in the attack and in a later engagement.

The German communique claimed the base suffered no damage.

A British air ministry communique said bad weather prevented "large-scale" aerial operations over enemy teritory, but reported that Royal Air Force planes attacked German airdromes in the low countries.

Other British planes mined enemy waters at "several points," the communique said. Four planes were reported missing.

The Berlin radio in a special broadcast claimed the entire British force had been "encircled, destroyed or captured" and that the entire "weak" naval force had been destroyed.

St. Nazaire is not only one of Germany's greatest submarine bases, but it is a base for the big Focke-Wulff long range planes which attack Allied shipping.

British planes have bombed St. Nazaire 29 times, the last time Wednesday night.

It was understood that many of the German submarines operating off the United States Atlantic coast are based there.

It was Berlin, too, which first announced the night's raids on Helgoland Bay, a follow-up to two nights of pulverizing raids on the Ruhr, heart of German war industry.

Berlin said night fighter planes had shot down five of the British bombers which were evidently attacking German submarine and general naval bases on the North Sea coast.

An air ministry communique said a German plane had dropped bombs on a northeast coast British town during the night and that numerous persons had been wounded.

Britain's bombing planes had swept across the English channel yesterday afternoon, supported by a powerful force of fighters, to attack objectives at Ostend, the German invasion base on the Belgium coast.

The fighters shot down one German plane and damaged others. A British fighter was lost but the big bombers all returned.

Berlin's report of the channel coast raid lent emphasis to the broadcast late last night of the mysterious "Col. V. Britton," in command by radio of the secret civilian forces which are fighting the Germans in occupied territory.

Britton recently gave a new code to his men and women, and last night he said:

"The time has come to break new ground and to start more offensive operations. I hope within the next week or two to give you some new information which will be of great importance.

"The time is coming for our 'V' army to move into action. It is vital that members of the 'V' army shall act with discipline and patience in carrying out what will be asked of them."

Red War Machine Stuns Nazi Forces

MOSCOW—(INS)—Seizing the initiative from the Arctic ocean to the Black sea, the huge Russian war machine today had the invading Nazi forces stunned and set back on almost every point of the 2,000-mile fighting lines.

In one of the most amazing military feats of the entire war, the Red navy landed Soviet troops behind German lines on the Arctic front near Murmansk, the Moscow radio reported.

These troops already were credited with breaking up before it started, a strong German offensive in the area, after that offensive was prevented from gaining headway by another Soviet force landed earlier, it was stated.

Reports reaching the Soviet capital said the Germans had planned to drop parachute troops on Murmansk, the vital seaport, and that the mass air raids of Tuesday were to have been the opening move in the campaign to choke off the stream of supplies now coming through the port from Britain and the United States.

But the air raids were a signal for the Russian counter-offensive. Soviet troops were landed behind the German lines on Rybachi peninsula, jutting north of the old Finnish border, with the Red navy and air force cooperating in a perfect operation which threw the enemy into "vast confusion."

2—Card of Thanks

WHILE our hearts are filled with sorrow we cannot forget the many acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes extended to us by our numerous friends, relatives and neighbors in the recent loss of our beloved wife and mother Mrs. E. R. Frisbee. Special thanks to Rev. Grover E. Swoyer for his touching words of consolation and the Wappner Funeral Home for their helpful, courteous assistance.
THE FRISBEE FAMILY. (S-K)

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need

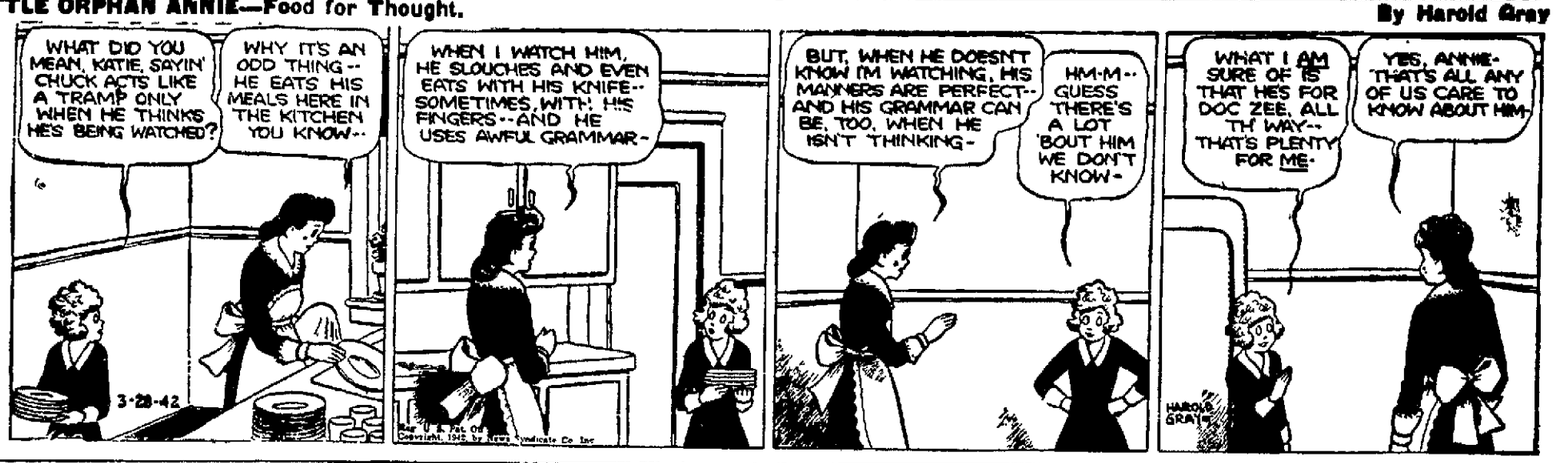
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Food for Thought. By Harold Gray



WHAT DID YOU MEAN, KATIE, SAYIN' CHUCK ACTS LIKE A TRAMP ONLY WHEN HE THINKS HE'S BEING WATCHED?
WHY IT'S AN ODD THING-- HE EATS HIS MEALS HERE IN THE KITCHEN YOU KNOW--
3-28-42
WHEN I WATCH HIM, HE SLOUCHES AND EVEN EATS WITH HIS KNIFE-- SOMETIMES, WITH HIS FINGERS--AND HE USES AWFUL GRAMMAR-
BUT, WHEN HE DOESN'T KNOW I'M WATCHING, HIS MANNERS ARE PERFECT-- AND HIS GRAMMAR CAN BE, TOO, WHEN HE ISN'T THINKING-
HM-M-- GUESS THERE'S A LOT 'BOUT HIM WE DON'T KNOW-
WHAT I AM SURE OF IS THAT HE'S FOR DOC ZEE, ALL TH' WAY-- THAT'S PLENTY FOR ME-
YES, ANNIE-- THAT'S ALL ANY OF US CARE TO KNOW ABOUT HIM-

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—(UP)—This country's meanest thief has broken his own record

Recently someone stole defense stamps from a Klamath Falls church. Now defense stamps, money and stamp books which children were filling have been stolen from the school house and authorities attribute both jobs to the same culprit.

U. S. foreign trade was larger the first half of 1941 than for the same period in 1931; exports were 36 per cent greater and imports 42 per cent.

WESTINGHOUSE SHOWS SLIGHT PRICE ADVANCE

Stocks Keep Fairly Good Balance In Saturday Short Session.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks kept their balance fairly well in today's market, with spots of strength or weakness notably scarce.

Minor plus signs were tacked on Youngstown Sheet, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, Phelps Dodge, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania.

Declines were registered for U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Du Pont, North American, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (NJ), American Can, Kennecott and American Smelting.

The problems of war, taxes, federal controls and labor persisted as the principal conservative argument.

Among items studied by market analysts were:

War Production Director Nelson has halted allocations of copper to the rural electrification administration, thus stopping any new non-defense construction by that agency.

The National Lumber Manufacturers' association estimated lumber production in the week ended March 21 was 1 per cent less than in the previous week and 2 per cent under the like week a year ago.

Lay Plans for Dollhouse Exhibit Next Month

Meeting at Malabar farm last night, the above group laid preliminary plans for the showing here next month of Colleen Moore's famed dollhouse, proceeds of which will be used to pay for farewell parties and gifts for men inducted into the army. Left to right, Mrs. Ephraim Brown, Walter Beckley, Mrs. H. H. Schettler, Mrs. Paul Stoodt, Miss Katherine Hartman, Sam V. Fox and Louis Bromfield. Mrs. Brown and Miss Hartman are co-chairmen of the ticket committee. Miss Moore will appear here with the dollhouse April 13, the first day of the exhibit, to be staged in the R. B. Gardner showroom. The exhibit will continue for a week.

PROGRAM FOR ARMY DAY SET

Parade To Be Highlight of Mansfield Celebration Early In April.

arrange for representatives of that organization to join in the parade.

It is hoped that the city's bands and drum corps will assist in making the parade outstanding, Bierly said.

"The excellent turn-out in the community send-off for the latest contingent to leave for the army is an indication," Bierly said, "that the city at large will welcome an opportunity to join together in a stirring tribute and salute to the boys in service.

"It is our belief and expectation that great numbers will want to participate in, or to witness, such a salute. We feel that Army day—the 25th anniversary of America's entry into the first World war, is a fitting occasion for such a community-wide event to honor Mansfield's sons in service."

TAKING TESTS

54 Seniors Compete Today In Scholarship Examination.

Fifty-four upper-ranking seniors from Richland county rural and Shelby high schools took the annual state senior scholarship tests this morning at Madison high school.

Other state tests in agriculture were to be given this afternoon to 14 county seniors.

Compiled by the state department of education, the examinations include mathematics, English, history, science and reading. The agriculture tests are for pupils studying farm methods or planning to study agriculture in college.

Contestants were chosen by school superintendents and teachers from the upper 40 per cent of senior classes in the county. The tests were in charge of a committee headed by Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools. Also on the committee were county teachers, Miss Clara Kuney of Springfield township; Richard Irwin of Lexington and W. H. Miley of Bellville.

DATES OPEN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Director John T. Brown said today the agriculture department would consider requests of county fairs to utilize the Aug. 24-Sept. 4 dates of the recently-cancelled state fair.

THEATERS

Tropical Romance.

"Bahama Passage," the romantic story of a modern Adam and Eve in a tropical paradise now showing at the Ohio, co-stars Stirling Hayden and Madeleine Carroll. Laid on a salt-producing island in the West Indies inhabited by several hundred native blacks the plot concerns the efforts of a wordly-wise young woman visitor to win the heart of the bronzegiant of a man in charge of the island. Hayden plays the man and Miss Carroll has the role of the charmer. Flora Robson, Cecil Kellaway and Leo G. Carroll are in the cast.

Horror Bill.

Comedy is combined with spine-chilling action in the Madison's double horror bill opening today. "The Mad Doctor of Market Street," presents Lionel Atwill as a fugitive doctor obsessed with the idea that he can bring people back to life. He attempts to put his theories into practice following a shipwreck near a South Sea isle. Claire Dodd and Nat Pendleton are in the cast. A chill-drama concerning a young man marked by the "werewolf" is set forth in "The Wolf Man," featuring Lon Chaney, jr., Evelyn Ankers and Patric Kowles.

Crime Thriller.

Robert Taylor's crime thriller, "Johnny Eager," is the attraction at the Ritz. Lana Turner appears opposite the star. "The Maltese Falcon," starring Humphrey Bogart is the second attraction.

Broadway Comedy.

A Broadway playwright of the man-about-town sort learns how difficult it is to keep up with a woman careerist in "Appointment for Romance," the Charles Boyer-Margaret Sullavan co-starring vehicle showing at the Park. Miss Sullavan plays a prominent physician who doesn't permit sentiment to interfere with her practice nor the apparent philanderings of a husband to arouse her jealousy. Reginald Denny, Cecil Kellaway and Eugene Pallette are in the cast. Gene Autry's "Cowboy's Serenade," is the co-feature.

Enemy Activity.

Fifth column activities in unsuspected places are exposed in "Criminals Within," the Majestic feature with Eric Linden and Ann Doran. Revolving around the murder of a high government chemist the picture deals with a band of international highjackers who operate out of a shoe-cobbler's shop. The murder of a recreation hall hostess adds suspense to the plot. "Lucky Cisco Kid," with Cesar Romero and Marjorie Weaver is the co-attraction.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Bitten By Dog — George Caton, 139 West Prospect street, told police yesterday that he had been bitten twice on the leg by a dog near his home. Police said that they were attempting to find the owner of the dog.

Arrest Mansfielder — James W. Alexander, Mansfield, was arrested last night by Mansfield police on a warrant issued by Massillon police charging the Mansfielder with speeding.

Hub Cap Stolen—F. C. McElroy, 332 West Fifth street, reported to police last night that a hub cap had been stolen off one of the rear wheels of his automobile while it was parked near his home.

Called To East Liverpool — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Finney have gone to East Liverpool, due to the illness of their grandson, John Douglas MacDonald.

Driver Fined—Pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, James Wyatt, 37, of Loudonville was fined $50 and costs yesterday in the court of Mayor E. L. Smith, Loudonville. He was arrested by state highway patrolmen.

Two Hurt — John Boston, 22, of 541 Lily street and John Lacy, 21, of 285 East Second street, suffered cuts and bruises when the car in which they were riding overturned on U. S. Route 30 west of Mifflin this morning. Both were taken to General hospital where they were treated and released.

Set Ditch Hearing — County commissioners today had set April 27 for the first hearing on a petition for improvement of the Olivesburg ditch. Commissioners will view the proposed project April 20. The petition was filed by C. D. Wolf and other property owners in the village area.

Tax Receipts Mount—Mail receipts which are still being checked today had boosted Richland county real estate tax collections for the first half of the year to $681,984, County Treasurer Charles C. Payne reported. Personal tax collections for the half-year period reached $67,053.

SHELBY EGGS

SHELBY—The auction of the North Central Egg and Poultry Co-operative association was held yesterday. Egg receipts totaled 428 cases.

POLLY AND HER PALS

I HAVEN'T SEEN BETTY FOR YEARS, POLLY - IS THAT CHAP SHE WAS CRAZY ABOUT STILL PAYING HER ATTENTIONS?
WHO? TEDDY? OH, NO, ADELE --- THAT WAS ENDED MONTHS AGO!
I'M SORRY TO HEAR IT --- DID THEY HAVE A FALLING-OUT?
NO --- THEY GOT MARRIED!
3 23
LISSEN, POLLY IF YER RIDIN' DOWNTOWN T'DAY, PICK ME UP ON YER WAY HOME
I AM, BUT ..
3 24
NO "BUTS".. YOU DO AS I SAY! IT SAVES RUBBER!
OK., PA.
I TRIED TO TELL YOU, PA'
THANKS A LOT POLLY
DON'T MENTION IT, NED GOOD LUCK!
WOT 'TH' HECK DID NED BORROW POLLY'S OPERA GLASSES FER, ANYHOW, SUSIE?
T'MORROW'S TH' TIME SET FER HIS FIRST PARACHUTE JUMP
AN' TH' PORE KID'S GONNA USE 'EM SO TH' GROUND WON'T SEEM SO FAR AWAY.
3 25
SORRY I HADDA LET POLLY GET YER SUPPER PA, BUT WE HAD FIRST AID DRILL AT TH' CLUB
THAT'S OK ME AN' POLLY HAD A LITTLE DRILL BY OURSELVES
WHY, WHAT DO YOU MEAN, PA? WHAT DRILL DID WE HAVE?
MY MISTAKE, GAL I THOUGHT I WUZ SUPPOSED T'BE PLAYIN' TH' INVADERS OUT HERE.
FOR DEFENSE
BUY
WHILE YOU WUZ PRACTICIN' TH' SCORCHED EARTH POLICY IN TH' KITCHEN!
3 26
ISN'T IT WONDERFUL THAT SERVICE MEN CAN GET MARRIED NOW WITHOUT ASKING PERMISSION, MA?
IT SURE IS, POLLY
I KNOWED RIGHT ALONG THAT IN TIMES LIKE THESE, TH' GOVERNMENT WOULD COME T' REALIZE
FOR DEFENSE
BUY
TH' MORE FIGHTIN' EXPERIENCE A FELLER HAS TH' BETTER'
3 27
THERE'S YOUR PAPER, PA, AND YOUR PILLOW AND SLIPPERS JUST A SECOND AND I'LL GET YOUR PIPE
BUT D'YA THINK I NEEDS ALL THIS ATTENTION?
I'M POSITIVE YOU DO, PA
AND SO AM I, SAMUEL SHE IS BROKE AGAIN'

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

GEE, ANNIE—WHAT ARE YOU DOING ALL THE FANCY WORK FOR? YOU HANDLE THAT EARTH LIKE IT WAS GOLD DUST!
INSTEAD OF JUST PLANTING A FEW SEEDS, FOLKS WILL THINK YOU'RE MAKING A SWELL CAKE—I PLANTED ALL MY SEEDS IN TEN MINUTES
MAYBE YOU'RE SMARTER THAN I AM—BUT I NEVER PLANTED ANY SEEDS BEFORE—SO I GOTTA BE TERRIBLE CAREFUL TO DO EVERYTHING RIGHT
BESIDES, I'M NOT IN A HURRY—I JUST LOVE TO GROW THINGS AN' MR. OLIVER SEZ EVERY FARMER KNOWS IF YOU'RE NOT NICE TO THE GROUND, THE GROUND WON'T BE NICE TO YOU
DARRELL McCLURE
HUH! LAUGHIN' AT WORDS IN THE DICTIONARY
ISN'T IT SILLY?
THERE'S NO JOKES IN A DICTIONARY
HA, HA! HA
DICTIONARY
PLEASE GO AWAY—YOU ANNOY ME—AFTER ALL, YOU ARE JUST A BUNCH OF LITTLE CROFTERS
OH—WE ARE NOT!
WE'RE NOT GONNA STAND HERE AN' LET YOU CALL US THAT!
WAIT'LL MR. OLIVER HEARS YOU CALLED US ALL LITTLE CROFTERS
HA HA HA HA
THAT'S WHAT YOU ARE—IT SAYS RIGHT HERE—"A CROFTER IS A SMALL FARMER"—HA HA HA HA
MY GOODNESS—WE ALL THOUGHT IT MUST BE SOME KIND OF A MONKEY OR SOMETHIN' DICTIONARY STANDARD
DARRELL McCLURE
GLORYOSKY, ZERO, BUT IT'S A SWELL DAY—EVERYTHING LOOKS SO NICE AN' CLEAN AN' SHINY
IT'S LIKE THE WHOLE WORLD HAS JUST COME BACK FROM THE LAUNDRY—AN' THE BREEZE SMELLS SO NICE—
JUST AS IF ALL THE LITTLE FLOWERS THAT ARE HIDING UNDER THE GROUND ARE SENDING A MESSAGE WRITTEN IN PERFUME INSTEAD OF INK—
AN' THE MESSAGE SEZ," YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY NOW—WINTER IS ALL OVER—SPRING HAS COME AN' EVERYTHING IS GONNA BE OKAY"
—AND I WANT TO THANK YOU ALL FOR YOUR SPLENDID WORK ON YOUR VICTORY FARMS—YOU ARE ALL DOING YOUR FULL SHARE
YOU ARE WORKING EARNESTLY TO DO A GOOD JOB—I KNOW THAT FARM-WORK AT TIMES BECOMES TIRING AND TEDIOUS——
BUT I AM PROUD AND HAPPY THAT YOU, LIKE COUNTLESS OTHER CHILDREN, ARE DOING YOUR BIT TO HELP YOUR COUNTRY—
KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK—AND WHEN HARVEST-TIME COMES AND YOU SEE THE TONS AND TONS OF FOOD YOUR LITTLE HANDS HAVE PRODUCED, YOU WILL HAVE THE JOY OF KNOWING THE VAST IMPORTANCE OF EACH LITTLE VICTORY FARM GOODNESS, I DIDN'T KNOW THERE WERE SO MANY CHICKENS IN THE WHOLE WORLD—THEIR CACKLING SOUNDS LOUDER THAN A SAWMILL—IT HURTS MY EARS!
MAYBE CHICKENS DON'T SING AS PRETTY AS MOCKINGBIRDS, BUT EVERY TIME YOU HEAR A CHICKEN HOLLERING, THAT MEANS IT JUST LAID A FRESH EGG
I KNOW CHICKENS CAN'T FLY OR LOOK PRETTY LIKE PEACOCKS—BUT I LIKE 'EM—
IF CHICKENS JUST WENT 'ROUND LOOKIN' PRETTY AN' SINGIN' SONGS, THEY WOULDN'T HAVE TIME TO BE LAYIN' EGGS—I GUESS CHICKENS ARE TOO BUSY TO WORRY 'BOUT HOW THEY LOOK
DARRELL McCLURE
BY GINGER—I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE A PARCEL OF YOUNGSTERS COULD DO THE WORK OF HUSKY, GROWN-UP FARM-HANDS
ASIDE FROM PLOWING THE FIELD AND THE ADVICE OF AN EXPERIENCED SUPERVISOR, EACH CHILD DOES ALL THE WORK ON HIS OWN LITTLE VICTORY FARM
LOOK AT 'EM! 'REMINDS ME OF BUSY BEAVERS A BUILDING A DAM—ONE LITTLE STICK AT A TIME—BUT WHEN THEY FINISH THE JOB, IT'S SO BIG—IT SORTA MAKES YOU BELIEVE IN MIRACLES
—AN' PLEASE MAKE ALL THE VICTORY FARMS GROW GREAT, BIG CROPS—SO WHEN HARVEST-TIME COMES, ALL THE KIDS KIN HOLLER "HURRAY, HURRAY!"
